BRS workers uneasy after the arrest of Hyd bizman in liquor scam

IREDDY SRINIVAS REDDY
@Hyderabad

WITH the Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Tuesday arresting Hyderabad-based businessman and 'South Group' frontman Arun Ramachandra Pillai in connection with the Delhi excise policy scam, the cadre of the ruling Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS) are getting uneasy.

For, the ED alleged that Pillai was acting on behalf of Telangana Chief Minister K Chandrashekhar Rao's daughter and BRS MLC K Kavitha, when he managed to get excise tenders under the revamped Delhi liquor policy. He was allegedly involved in the tweaking of the excise policy at the formulation stage.

The ED claimed he was one of the beneficiaries of kickbacks, which he laundered subsequently. A special court allowed ED to interrogate him in its custody till March 13.

The ED alleged that Pillai had siphoned off ₹32.8 crore so far in the excise case and about ₹25.5 crore was "directly transferred" in his bank account.

The CBI had in December last recorded Kavitha's statement as a witness in the scam.

The ED had earlier alleged that Kavitha had destroyed evidence in mobile phones and claimed that she had taken part in several meetings with liquor barons in Delhi and Hyderabad. As for Pillai, the ED has already questioned him over a dozen times but found him non-cooperative so far.

For her part, Kavitha has denied any role in the scam and alleged it was a political witch-hunt.

BJP red-faced over graft accused MLA's revelry

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru/Davanagere

TUESDAY posed further embarrassment for the BJP over its graft-accused MLA from Channagiri in Davanagere district, Madal Virupakshappa, who after five days resurfaced when Karnataka High Court granted him ad-interim anticipatory bail, and returned to his constituency to a rousing welcome and celebrations by his followers. A red-faced BJP — which was already rattled by the Lokayukta raid in the run-up to the polls — warned him against such celebrations in the face of corruption charges likely to dent the party's image.

The Lokayukta raid on March 2 in Bengaluru found Rs 8 crore in the office of his son, Prashanth Madal, Chief Accounts Officer at Bangalore Water Supply & Sewerage Board (BWSSB). While anxieties over the impending impact of the corruption charge ran high, Virupakshappa anticipated his expulsion from the party while remaining defiant, claiming that the Rs 8 crore found by the Lokayukta police rightfully belonged to him. "The money seized by Lokayukta sleuths is accounted money and we are going to give proper evidence for all the money and are going to get it back from them," he told reporters at his Channakeshavapura residence in Channagiri. 1st woman IAF officer to head combat unit

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

TAKING a major step towards making it a gender-neutral force, the Indian Air Force on Tuesday selected Group Captain Shaliza Dhami to take over the command of a frontline combat unit facing Pakistan in the Western sector.

Group Captain (equivalent to Colonel in the Army) Dhami was commissioned in 2003 as a helicopter pilot and has logged over 2,800 hours of flying experience. She is the first qualified woman flying instructor in the IAF and has served as flight commander of a helicopter unit in the Western sector.

Dhami's selection highlights the IAF's efforts to provide women with more opportunities in combat and command roles. The IAF broke the glass ceiling by inducting three women officers — Avani Chaturvedi, Bhawana Kanth and Mohana Singh — into the fighter stream in July 2016. In 2018, flying officer Avani Chaturvedi became the first Indian woman pilot to fly a fighter aircraft solo by flying a MiG-21 Bison.

At present, a total of 1,875 women officers are serving in the IAF, which has opened all its branches, including the special forces unit Garud, for women. The female officers are working as weapons systems operators in Sukhoi fighters and are flying the special operations squadrons of the C-130j Hercules, C-17 strategic transport aircraft.

The IAF already has a few women commanding the static units, but they only have a supporting role and are not directly part of the combat zone. Group Captain Dhami will be in the operations area.

CBI questions Lalu in railway jobs scam

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

THE CBI on Tuesday questioned RJD chief and former railway minister Lalu Prasad for nearly six hours in connection with the land-for-jobs scam case. The CBI interrogated Lalu at the New Delhi residence of his eldest daughter and Rajya Sabha MP Misa Bharti. According to the prosecution, those seeking railway jobs either gifted or sold land plots to the Lalu family when the RJD chief was the railway minister.

Sources said Lalu replied only to a few questions. Misa Bharti was also present during her father's questioning.

On Monday, the CBI had interrogated Lalu's wife and former Bihar CM Rabri Devi in the same case in which Misa Bharti is also an accused.

Lalu had returned to India on February 11 after his kidney transplant in Singapore. Lalu's second daughter Rohini Acharya, who is based in Singapore, accused the agency of 'harassing' her ailing father.

Marching in step: Women Agniveers begin training in B'luru

The recruits, aged 18-23, will undergo a 31-week intensive training programme

The first batch of women Agniveer recruits wield rifles as part of their training, at the Corps of Military Police Centre in Bengaluru on Tuesday | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

AHEAD of International Women's Day, the first batch of 100 women Agniveer recruits have just begun training at the Corps of Military Police (CMP) Centre in Bengaluru.

Beginning training from March 1, the Agniveer recruits have reportedly been increasingly enthusiastic, already being able to disassemble INSAS rifles and complete obstacle courses. "Their response has been incredibly overwhelming. They are highly motivated and high-spirited. Every one of them wants to be a part of the 25 per cent permanent cadre. They are all competitive, and also very high-spirited," Major Valentina D'Mello, an Electronics and Mechanical Engineers (EME) officer and training officer for the female Agniveer recruits, told TNIE.

The women recruits are part of the second batch of Agniveer recruits to begin training at the CMP Centre. Currently, there are over 350 Agniveer recruits training at the centre -- the first batch of all male recruits is currently in their tenth week of training, the second batch consists of 100 female and 140 male recruits, who began training on March 1.

The recruits, aged between 18 and 23, will undergo a 31-week intensive training and emerge as Agniveers working as part of the CMP. "Daily duties will be akin to the role of the military police. They will be handling discipline of the cantonment, specifically law and order situations. For the women Agniveers, they will also have specific tasks of frisking of women, as well as handling offences against women and children," said Major D'Mello.

Speaking to TNIE, one of the Agniveer recruits, M P Preethi (22), said that to be able to serve her nation was like a religion. "I feel very proud that I have received the opportunity to serve my country. To be able to serve the nation is like a religion by itself. It doesn't matter if it's for four years or for 24 years. My family is my primary motivation and I'm very thankful for them, especially my big brother. Though he wasn't recruited in the Indian Army, he inspired and motivated me to join," she said.

"Under the Agniveer scheme, we have to complete the training in a compressed timeframe. The primary focus will be on physical conditioning, weapons training, handling of small arms and other operational aspects of the military police," said CMP Commandant Brigadier Jose Abraham.

WOMEN CAN RIDE FREE ON BMTC BUSES TODAY

Women can travel in all BMTC buses, including the air-conditioned Vajra and Vayu Vajra services, on Wednesday. BMTC has also offered free travel for all PUC students on the dates of their examination. After dilly-dallying, the state government has accepted BMTC's proposal to offer free travel to women on Internation Women's Day. It must be noted that the BMTC sent a proposal to the Transport Secretary on March 3, which listed the benefits of offering free travel for women and how it will improve the image of the transport corporation, improve ridership of women and empower them. On Monday, the government approved to the free travel that is expected to cost Rs 8.17 crore as estimated by BMTC. It is expected that nearly 20 lakh women will make use of the free travel offer. Meanwhile, PUC students can show their admission tickets and travel freely on the day of their examination during March 9-29.

BREATHLESS CITY

Bengaluru, Hyderabad saw worst pollution last winter

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

RESEARCHERS from the Centre for Science and Environment (CSE) reported that all mega cities in India, irrespective of their locations in different geo-climatic zones, faced the challenge of worsening PM2.5 levels during the winter of 2022-23.

In the report, the team analysed five mega cities -- Delhi-NCR, Kolkata-Howrah, Mumbai, Hyderabad, Bengaluru and Chennai. It noted that Bengaluru and Hyderabad experienced the worst peak pollution this winter, compared with the past four years. The report stated that analysis was based on real-time particulate matter -- PM2.5 data – collated in the cities from October 1, 2022, to February 28, 2023.

As per the report on January 27, 2023, the daily PM2.5 level in Bengaluru hit 152 micrograms per metre cube (µg/m³) -- the highest 24-hour PM2.5 average recorded in the city since 2019.

According to the report, the average winter PM2.5 level in Delhi was 151µg/m³, in Kolkata- Howrah it was 84µg/m³, in Mumbai, it was 77 µg/m³, in Hyderabad, it was 59µg/m³ (just under the standard), in Bengaluru, it was 44 µg/m³ and Chennai it was 42 µg/m³ (both were under the 24-hour standard, but breached the annual standard for PM2.5.)

The report also stated: "Days with bad air quality occurred in clusters during the winter season in mega cities. The clustering of bad air days was longer in Delhi, Kolkata, Mumbai and Hyderabad, but of shorter duration in Bengaluru and Chennai."

"While Delhi's winter air quality hogs all the eyeballs, the rising winter air pollution in other mega cities, including Kolkata, Mumbai, Hyderabad, Bengaluru and Chennai, does not get adequate attention. While Delhi has bent its seasonal pollution curve, winter air pollution is high or on the rise in most other mega cities. These cities, located outside the northern plains, may have more favourable meteorological conditions to contain the peaking of pollution during winters, but their overall city average and levels across locations can cause very high exposure. This demands round-the-year action to control emissions in cities that are motorising and urbanising rapidly," said Anumita Roychowdhury, executive director-research and advocacy, CSE.

Littering of cigarette butts may attract fines

ENS @Bengaluru

TO put an end to the unmindful disposal of cigarette butts that is taking a toll on the environment, the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) is mulling to impose a fine on butt littering. The KSPCB called a meeting of stakeholders, including the health department, urban development department, BBMP, and tobacco manufacturers, to frame guidelines.

Against the backdrop of the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB) releasing guidelines for the disposal of cigarette and beedi butts in November last year and the National Green Tribunal direction asking states to frame rules, a meeting notice has been sent out by the KSPCB Member Secretary on March 4.

Citing the key recommendations of the CPCB, the member secretary said that cigarette and beedi manufacturers should create awareness of the adverse impact of littering cigarette butts throughout their distributing channels with instructions for safe disposal to be clearly provided on each cigarette pack. "Disposal of cigarette butts shall either be through recycling or through end-of-life methods such as waste to energy or co-processing," the notice said.

The member secretary said that one of the key recommendations of CPCB is that littering of cigarette butts is to be strictly prohibited and provision for levying and enforcement of fines is to be made for littering of cigarette butts by the local authorities.

The meeting is scheduled to be held on March 15 at KSPCB.

For these two women, the glass ceiling is underground

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

WHILE Tunnel Boring Machines (TBMs) making a noisy breakthrough is commonplace now, what is not so common is women engineers overseeing them and making a silent breakthrough in this male bastion.

In a first for Bengaluru Metro since construction began in 2007, two women have been deployed 60 feet below ground at Dairy Circle, for the past 10 months. A Gowri (44), assistant executive engineer, and B V Madhu (39), assistant engineer, go underground every day to fulfil challenging and risky roles.

TNIE caught up with them at their work site and found them enthusiastic about their professional life. Mother of teenage sons, twins pursuing BE in Computer Science, Gowri had been associated with BMRCL since 2007 through its consultant, RITES Ltd. "My inspiration was our former Chief Tunnel Expert from Japan, Tezuka, who played a key role in the underground corridor of Phase-I," she said.

A Gowri and BV Madhu in a Metro tunnel, as part of their job which comes with a host of risks and challenges, in Bengaluru on Tuesday | NAGARAJA GADEKAL

A native of Tiruchirappalli and a civil engineering graduate, Gowri moved to Bengaluru after marriage. She had been seeking an opportunity to be posted underground and finally got consent in May 2022. "I am grateful to Chief Engineer Subrahmanya Gudge and Deputy Civil Engineer Raghavendra Shanbhag for giving us the opportunity," she said.

The job had more to do with mental strength than physical agility, she said. "It is possible for all women to achieve their dreams. Staying focused on your dream is most important," Gowri added. "My husband V Anand is completely supportive on the domestic front, there are days I have worked 12 hours at a stretch from 9am," she adds. In agreement is Shivamogga native Madhu, also a civil engineering graduate with an M.Tech in Construction Technology. She has two kids, aged 11 and 5, while her husband A Satyarnarayana is assistant professor in Ramanagara. Her support is aunt Prema Tilak, who has taken responsibility of her children.

Associated with BMRCL since 2009, she joined in September 2019. "The day I was posted here, I knew this field job was what I wanted to do all my life. My male colleagues are also very supportive."

"We check if the TBM is running smoothly. We check the cutters after every four or five rings for wear and tear," she said. Access to toilets underground is an issue so they use the restroom on the ground before descending to carry out checks which go on for an hour or two. "They are doing a commendable job. We will be happy to have more women working underground with passion and involvement," Shanbhag said.

GANDHI BAZAAR TRADERS FEAR LOSS OF SHOPS, STOP JCB DRIVE

ENS @Bengaluru

TRADERS are up in arms against the BBMP that wants to raze old shops in Gandhi Baazar to make way for a multilevel parking complex. The traders stopped the JCB drive on Monday, and demanded a written assurance from the BBMP commissioner that their shops will be reallotted.

Under its Smart City Project, BBMP is aiming to build a multilevel car park, with shops in the basement.

Gopinath, member of the Gandhi Bazaar Traders' Association, said that BBMP had transferred the project to Bangalore Smart City Limited (BSCL) and JCB machines had razed the walls of two shops on Monday.

"We reached out to the joint commissioner's office to express our concern. We gathered in large numbers and stopped the drive. The officials said they would give us a letter of assurance on allotment of shops from the BBMP executive engineer, once the project is complete, but our demand is that the letter should either come from the BBMP chief commissioner or South Zone joint commissioner," he said.

Bengaluru Smart City Limited officials said the Palike had served an eviction notice to 37 shops earlier, as the market is in a dilapidated condition and needs immediate intervention. "Under the BSCL project, a multilevel project will come up and 180 cars can be parked. The project will also have shops at the basement level, and 47 shops will be built at a cost of Rs 20 crore," an official said.

The traders fear that once the project is complete, they will not get the shops as BBMP may opt for a tender process.

However, BBMP officials stated many traders had not paid rent for decades, and feared a crackdown by BBMP.

08TH March : Is crime related to the stars? Perhaps! I am very interested in research which indicates that the police receive more emergency calls around the time of the Full Moon. But does that really mean that more people commit crimes at this time of the month? Or is it that more people report them? All I can say is that more research is needed but, until then, we should take care when the Moon is at its brightest.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
It seems that you are better at giving advice than receiving it, but don't be surprised if people at home answer back. In love, romantic hopes are tied to domestic aspirations, which is in general a thoroughly good thing! An older relation might need a helping hand, by the way, so be ready.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
You are set to gain emotionally and financially. This is not the moment to turn the tables on people who have got the better of you, but it is a fine point at which to stop and consider what can be done when your chance comes. As I'm sure you understand, there's no need to rush, and every advantage in moving at your own careful pace.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
A new partnership will bring great good fortune at home. First, though, you may have to face a little disappointment openly and courageously. Deal with this well and your eventual success will be all the greater. Plus, if you're ready to experiment with new social activities you might find that you really do enjoy yourself.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
You should always remember that you were born under an ambitious sign and have much to accomplish. The moment you forget this and begin to imagine that you are always a sweet and sensitive person, you'll miss major opportunities and your hopes will begin to unravel.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
You should always take the long-term view and make a point of broadening your horizons at every turn. It is time to take care of your own needs and aspirations, making it apparent to one and all that you are to be toyed with no longer. People who think otherwise may be in line for a shock.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
It's all too easy to jump to conclusions. Have you considered the possibility that you have got someone all wrong? It may be that you have interpreted a partner's behaviour more in line with what you would like to be the case, rather than in terms of what is actually true.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
You should be less inclined to worry about partners' and relations' behaviour, for you will only get yourself all steamed up, and still be unable to do anything about it! At work, you should concentrate on getting on with people, as you might need loyal allies in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
It's a useful moment to consider your physical well-being, taking whatever decisions are necessary to get into shape with diet and exercise. There's no need to go to extremes - just be sensible. And while you're at it, pursue a new interest now, rather than putting it off for ever.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Some of your basic qualities are strengthened today, especially your adventurousness and your willingness to experiment with new lifestyles and ideas. Don't be afraid to break out, just as long as you have taken whatever advice is essential to avoid failure and guarantee success.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
There are sound reasons why this is not a good moment to finalise relationship matters unless you are one hundred and ten per cent certain. It is, however, a perfect period in which to open yourself to new partnerships and make new life-long friends.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Whatever praise or approval you now receive will surely be well-deserved, but never let flattery go to your head. Plus, you should watch out for creeping complacency. If you rest on your laurels for a moment, opportunity may begin to slip from your grasp.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Costs may be increasing, but that is of little significance at the moment. What is very much more important is that you make a bid for romantic happiness. In the final analysis it's all down to your ability to alter your perspective on one particular person.

PIGEON POO A DANGER IN ASTHMA CAPITAL B'LURU

Lung infections, cases of hypersensitive pneumonitis on the rise, public awareness key

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH a growing pigeon population, health concerns associated with the birds are also on the rise. More so are cases of Hypersensitive Pneumonitis (HP) and other lung infections.

Ornithologists and urban planners term pigeons "pests" and admit that rising populations are a matter of concern for the city, which has lost its biodiversity and is also termed the 'asthma capital'. Pulmonologists report cases of lung infections and HP. "Compared to Mumbai, which has seen over 20 deaths because of HP, Bengaluru is not badly affected. But it is a matter of concern as the culture of feeding and rearing pigeons is also rising in Bengaluru," said Dr Sandeep HS, consultant pulmonologist, BGS Gleneagles Global Hospital, who previously worked in Mumbai.

Widespread public awareness is key to keeping HP at bay, he said. "On an average, 2-3 cases of HP are reported. While there are many causes for HP in the cases we treated, the patients were either pigeon feeders or were living in close proximity to pigeons," he said.

Dr Sandeep also clarified that exposure to pigeons and their droppings once or twice may not lead to HP, but prolonged exposure does. "If you are feeding pigeons regularly which come to your home, the droppings are in and around your home, and inhaling it regularly causes problems. Pigeon feeding should be stopped and avoiding exposure is the best treatment," he said.

Experts say there are no prescribed rules for handling pigeons, and a culture of feeding them prevails in many places. Doctors from the Indian Medical Association (IMA) Standing Committee for Anti-Microbial Resistance said a thorough investigation was being done on the cases reported. IMA officials said citizens must be cautious of large populations of pigeons around them, and that surroundings should be kept clean, especially where they leave droppings.

Dr Satyanarayan M, pulmonologist, Manipal Hospital, said with HP, cases of Psittacosis, caused by droppings of parrots, are also being reported.

But pigeon feeding groups in Bengaluru rubbish the claims as propaganda. Vasanthraj R, trustee of Sree Sankeshwara Parshwanath Jain Kaboota Dana Seva Samithi, said pigeons have been accepted as part of people's daily life, and some could be affected by their droppings, so hygiene must be maintained.

HP can be divided into three stages

In the first two stages -- acute and subacute -- it is mild and can be treated with steroids

In the chronic (third) stage, damage to lungs is extreme and irreversible; a majority of patients report to doctors in the third stage

Make flu vax must & free for all: Docs

NAMRATA SINDWANI @ Bengaluru

DOCTORS suggest making influenza vaccines compulsory under the Universal Immunisation Programme, and free of cost to all. Since Influenza A cases are seen annually during transitioning weather, vaccines will help improve a person's immunity and reduce the number of cases in future, they said.

Dr Lakshmipathy from KC General Hospital said several people do not take influenza vaccines as they are expensive. A single dose costs Rs 800-1,000, and is to be taken every year. The patient burden in the OPD tends to rise, with cases of flu and influenza-like virus cases. Currently, the OPD records around 30 patients every day.

Dr Sheela Murali Chakravarthy, director, Internal Medicine, Fortis Hospital, Bannerghatta Road, said it is important to consider the influenza vaccine under the immunisation initiative as it helps control viruses easily, and reduces the burden of hospitalisation.

With the recent spike in seasonal flu cases, especially the H3N2 sub-variant influenza virus seen across India, state health department also released guidelines stating precautionary measures to reduce chances of the virus spreading on Monday. Dr Sharif, deputy director, National Vector Borne Disease Control Programme, said doctors can be the primary carriers of the virus, hence provisions are made to vaccinate all healthcare professionals free.

Health officials advised people to follow all protocols. Doctors also said it is not a worrisome situation.

Masks, PPE, flu vaccine must for health workers

To control the spread of H3N2 influenza, the health department issued an advisory for health officials, instructing all District Health Officers to ensure regular ILI and SARI surveillance is conducted, with appropriate sample collection for diagnosis. They are asked to ensure sufficient stock of all required doses of tablet Oseltamivir for treatment, and PPE for healthcare workers. The circular directs healthcare workers working in high-risk areas like ICUs to take the flu vaccine.

Mandaviya inaugurates 100th Jan Aushadi Kendra in B'luru South

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

UNION Health Minister Dr Mansukh Manadaviya on Tuesday said the government's role is not only to improve a city''s infrastructure or drainage, but cater to the needs of the people. He said more Jan Aushadhi Kendras should be set up to provide affordable medicines to the underprivileged sections of society.

On Jan Aushadhi Diwas, celebrated on March 7, Dr Mandaviya inaugurated the 100th Jan Aushadhi Kendra of Bengaluru (South) and a free dialysis centre at the KSRTC Hospital. He said the aim of setting up a kendra is to give "Jan Aushadhi, Sasti Bhi, Uttam bhi" (affordable and quality medicines) to all. Until now, 9000 kendras have been set up across India.

Jan Aushadhi Kendras are in alignment with the Prime Minister's vision of providing affordable healthcare. The provisions are laid out in a way that any private or public entity can set up a Jan Aushadhi Kendra in their locality, he said.

Prices of medicines at Jan Aushadhi Kendras are cheaper by at least 50 per cent and in some cases 80-90 per cent when compared to the market prices of branded medicines, he said. Medicines for cancer, blood pressure, diabetes and several other ailments are available at affordable prices. People from all strata of society face health issues, but only the poor people face the burden. These affordable medicines are of much help to such people as they can avail quality medicines at affordable prices, he said.

CM Basavaraj Bommai said that much attention is now being given to health and education in Bengaluru and a special Bengaluru Health System is also being curated. He said efforts are being made to make healthcare accessible and affordable. Clinics are being inaugurated in all wards, 19 PHCs are being upgraded and four speciality hospitals are being constructed, he added.

Modi hails city doc, son for recycling efforts

AKNISREE KARTHIK @ Bengaluru

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi has lauded a Bengaluru-based doctor and his son for recycling unused papers. The doctor tweeted a picture of unused sheets from notebooks to be bound and reused for rough work and other purposes. On March 5, Dr Deepak Krishnamurthy, who works as senior interventional cardiologist at Sakra World Hospital, tweeted, "Every academic year-end, my son diligently removes unused sheets from his notebooks and I get them bound. #ReduceRecycleReuse". Modi quote tweeted the post on Tuesday and followed Dr Deepak on Twitter.

In the quote tweet, Modi said, "A good team effort this, with a larger message of sustainable living. Compliments to your son and you. Would urge others as well to share similar efforts, which will create greater awareness on recycling and "waste to wealth."

"I did not expect my tweet to be quote tweeted by the PM. My son Aditya Avadani, who is in 10th standard, was equally shocked when I conveyed to him that the PM has acknowledged his recycling efforts," Dr Deepak told TNIE.

"My wife Varsha Raghuraman, a teacher at Deens Academy at Whitefield, helps my son and students at the school to reuse resources, he said. "Recycling was part of every middle-class family. Kids should develop this habit. If more people start doing this, it will make a big impact on environment," Dr Deepak said.

ALL SITTING MLAs, BARRING 4-5, LIKELY TO GET TICKETS: BSY

Elections to be fought under Bommai's leadership, says ex-CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kalaburagi

FORMER chief minister BS Yediyurappa said that most of the sitting MLAs will be given tickets, except for four or five of them.

The BJP Parliamentary Board member said that candidates will be selected based on their chances of winning, and the party will announce the list of candidates at an appropriate time.

Speaking about BJP's victory in the North East states, he said the results are a clear indication of the country's mood. The Vijay Sankalpa Yatra, which commenced from four different parts of the state, has elicited a tremendous response that shows that there is a wave in favour of BJP.

BJP will get 140 seats and form a government, he said.

Of 41 seats from Kalyana Karnataka region, comprising Bidar, Kalaburagi, Yadgir, Raichur, Koppal, Vijayanagara and Ballari districts, BJP will win at least 30 seats, he predicted. The Vijay Sankalpa Yatra, covering almost 224 Assembly constituencies, will conclude on March 20. A huge rally will be organised on March 25 in Davanagere, which is likely to be attended by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, he said.

Asked about BJP's chief ministerial candidate, Yediyurappa clarified that elections will be fought under the leadership of Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, but the new legislators will choose their leader.

Hitting out at Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah for saying that state BJP does not have good leaders and needs to invite Modi and Union Home Minister Amit Shah repeatedly to the state to campaign, Yediyurappa said Siddaramaiah should think if Congress leader Rahul Gandhi can lead the nation efficiently.

He listed out the welfare schemes implemented by both central and state governments that have benefitted farmers, labourers and the masses.

However, when asked if BJP leaders Narayanaswamy and V Somanna are quitting BJP, Yediyurappa refused to comment, saying, "Whoever wants to quit BJP can do so. It will not affect the party."

Former chief minister Jagadish Shettar, Union Minister of State for Chemicals and Fertilisers Bhagwant Khuba and others were present.

Later, Yediyurappa and other leaders took part in a roadshow at Shahabad town of Kalaburagi district and proceeded to Yadgir district.

Virupakshappa gets interim anticipatory bail from HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Tuesday granted ad-interim anticipatory bail to Channagiri BJP MLA K Madal Virupakshappa. The Lokayukta police had registered a First Information Report (FIR) in a corruption case, in which the MLA is the prime accused. However, after the case was registered, his whereabouts remained unknown.

Justice K Natarajan granted the interim anticipatory bail, with the conditions that he shall surrender before the investigating office within 48 hours of the receipt of the copy of the order and he shall be released on a bail bond of Rs 5 lakh if arrested.

The court said Virupakshappa's interim anticipatory bail will be in force till the final disposal of the main petition and he shall cooperate with the investigation and shall not enter the office of the Karnataka Soaps and Detergents Limited (KSDL).

Virupakshappa resigned as chairman of KSDL and absconded after his son Prashanth Madal, who is the chief accounts officer at BWSSB, was caught red-handed while allegedly accepting a Rs 40 lakh bribe from an agency to favour a tender to supply chemical oil to KSDL.

Granting time to the Lokayukta police to submit the investigation report and their counsel to file the statement of objections, the hearing was adjourned to March 17, 2023.

The Lokayukta counsel argued that the bribe was paid as there was a demand by the petitioner and the investigating agency is yet to collect evidence. Granting interim anticipatory bail is equal to the main prayer of anticipatory bail and hence they require time to file a statement of objections, he argued while objecting to the anticipatory bail plea.

The counsel for the petitioner argued that except for naming the petitioner in the FIR, there is no demand for bribe and acceptance from the petitioner.

The Lokayukta police registered an FIR against Virupakshappa on March 2, 2023 under the provisions of the Prevention of Corruption Act.

Cong: Govt protecting its 'tainted' MLA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

OPPOSITION Congress on Tuesday accused the state government of protecting BJP MLA Madal Virupakshappa, who is facing corruption charges, and reiterated its demand for CM Basavaraj Bommai's resignation on moral grounds.

The party has called for a bandh of markets for two hours from 9 am on Thursday to protest against the government. The party said it is a symbolic protest.

Former CM Siddaramaiah said that Rs 8 crore seized from the BJP MLA's residence proved 40 per cent commission charges against the state government. "The government is protecting the MLA. He should have been arrested immediately," he said and added that the CM should resign on moral grounds.

Siddaramaiah hit back at BJP leaders for accusing him of weakening the Lokayukta by constituting the ACB. The ACB was constituted after allegations of corruption in the Lokayukta at that time, he said and added that BJP which had claimed in its manifesto that it will abolish the ACB soon after coming to power did not do so even after being in power for three years.

KPCC president DK Shivakumar said after the Gujarat elections, BJP was in a hurry to conduct the elections in the state, but now they are busy calling for short-term tenders to mobilise funds. He said Congress is confident of winning 140 seats. Shivakumar dared Bommai to come for an open debate on the Congress' promise of 200-unit free power for all households if it comes to power.

Missing MLA

Earlier, Congress launched the "missing MLA" poster campaign by pasting posters with a photo of BJP MLA Madal Virupakshappa. The police acted against those pasting the posters. AICC General Secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala slammed the arrests.

CM mocks Cong for taking credit for expressway

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai took a jibe at opposition leader Siddaramaiah for taking credit for the 10-lane Bengaluru-Mysuru expressway, which is scheduled to be inaugurated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi on March 12.

Accusing Congress of making false promises by making big announcements ahead of the Assembly elections and misleading people, Bommai said that Congress cannot claim credit for the expressway by submitting a proposal for the new road which has been there for the last two decades.

Bommai also distributed certificates and benefits of various state and central government schemes at Maharaja's Ground, and said that BJP walks the talk unlike Congress who allures people.

CM Basavaraj Bommai hands over a cheque to a woman in Mysuru | UDAYASHANKAR S

However, he was not against CLP leader Siddaramaiah inspecting highway roads as thousands are using it. "Our government announced ST/SC reservation hike. Congress is making baseless allegations that it will never be implemented. We are doing what they have failed to do in the last four to five decades," said Bommai.

Modi has ensured that government schemes reach beneficiaries through DBT. "During the pandemic, Modi government launched the biggest vaccine drive, and during BS Yediyurappa's tenure as CM, the people of the state were also benefitted," he said.

District in-charge minister ST Somashekhar said, "We aim to provide Rs 24,000 crore loan to over 33 lakh farmers in the state, of which 3 lakh are new farmers." Mocking Congress for calling a bandh, Bommai said he was curious about the reason for the bandh when Congress is facing so many corruption cases. He cited Supreme Court verdict on bandhs, and said that it will not evoke good response as the PU examinations will start from March 9.

Asked about Rs 200 crore scam allegation against Siddaramaiah over spending on snacks, Bommai said he will look into the records and take a decision, if the charges are found to be true.

Asked about the rise in number of cases due to H2N3 virus, Bommai said the central government will come out with the guidelines soon. Everyone should wear masks, he said, adding that a high-level committee meeting will be held in Bengaluru.

'Will submit all accounts for probe'

"THE money is from our large arecanut groves, arecanut mandi, stone crushers and other businesses that our family runs," he said.

He said all accounts would be submitted for investigation, and expressed confidence that he would come clean of the charges. He said although he had not received any notice from the Lokayukta sleuths, he would be appearing for the investigations within 48 hours.

Under the assumption that a decision to expel him from the party was already taken, Virupakshappa said he welcomed it and would rejoin the party after getting a clean chit.

But party sources said no such decision was taken, and it would be left to the party's central leaders to decide on expulsion as Virupakshappa is a sitting MLA.

BJP Davanagere district president Veeresh Hanagawadi said a decision to expel a member from the BJP's primary membership is taken by the BJP's disciplinary committee, which issues a proper notice for the accused's version. But that had not happened in this case. "He (Virupakshappa) might have given the reaction of being expelled as he is passing through a traumatic situation," Hanagawadi said.

Virupakshappa, who resigned as Chairman of Karnataka Soaps & Detergents Limited (KSDL) and remained incommunicado after his son Prashanth was caught red-handed while allegedly accepting a Rs 40 lakh bribe from an agency to favour a tender to supply chemical oil to KSDL, and had moved the court seeking anticipatory bail.

Zoo installs air coolers to keep primates comfy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

AS the temperature is soaring with summer setting in, authorities of the 130-year-old Mysuru Zoo are trying hard to keep animals cool.

The zoo has installed air coolers in the enclosures of primates to protect them from the scorching heat. "As primates are sensitive, the coolers provide them relief during summer. The appliances are similar to those used at homes. We also provide them tender coconuts and fruits with more water content to prevent dehydration," Mysuru Zoo executive director Ajit M Kulkarni told The New Indian Express.

The zoo houses 1,455 animals, including 624 mammals, 731 birds and 100 reptiles. It has four Bornean orangutans (Minnie and Afa - Merlin and Atina), six chimpanzees and two Western Lowland gorillas (Thabo and Demba), which have been procured from various Malaysia, Germany and other countries.

Most difficult for the authorities is to maintain manageable conditions for animals kept in open enclosures. They have provided shelters and sprinklers for herbivores. For birds and reptiles, the authorities have arranged foggers and water sprinklers.

To keep big mammals like elephants, hippos and gaurs cool, the authorities have also created mud wallows where animals have mud baths and play during the hot summer, Kulkarni said.

The authorities said they change the diet that is suitable for summer. Fruits like watermelon, muskmelon and citrus are provided. Also, veterinarians keep a close watch on the health of the animals.

The authorities are taking no chances as the mercury will only go further north during peak summer months April and May.

Shivaji 'insulted', MES plans purification pooja

Belagavi: There seems to be no end to the controversy over the Shivaji Maharaj's statue atop Rajhunsgad Fort near Yellur, Belagavi. After a spat between BJP and Congress, now Maharashtra Ekikaran Samiti (MES) says Shivaji Maharaj has been insulted as his statue has been misused for political games. It needs 'Shuddhikaran' (purification), for which they have called a meeting on March 8. They have invited pro-Maharashtra leaders to attend the programme. Former MLA Manohar Kinekar of MES lamented that there has been an unnecessary controversy over the issue for the last few days. Inaugurating and re-inaugurating the statue is an insult to Shivaji Maharaj, they added. It was formally inaugurated by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on March 2, after Hebbalkar announced her plans to unveil the statue on March 5.

Half of voters are women, but not 'winnable' candidates: Parties

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

WOMEN voters in Karnataka comprise almost half of the total electorate, but political parties are unlikely to give tickets to women candidates as they are not considered as "winnable".

This year, as per data from the Chief Electoral Officer of Karnataka, there are 5.05 crore voters -- 2.54 crore male and 2.50 crore female. The difference of 3.5 lakh between the two sections of voters is the lowest-ever in Karnataka.

In Mysuru, Kodagu, Dakshina Kannada, Shivamogga, Udupi and some North Karnataka districts, there are more women voters playing a vital role in deciding the winners. But parties are not interested in giving them tickets.

A Congress leader said this election is crucial and their party is looking for winnable candidates. "We cannot give tickets to women candidates and allow them to contest. We want a majority of our candidates to win. Unlike male candidates, it is difficult for them to fight," he said.

Interestingly, BJP has a similar contention. "We are not against women candidates, but everyone knows polls are not about good and clean candidates. We might give tickets to a few women, but cannot depend on them in polls. Fielding them would mean that they will lose in many places, which our leaders cannot afford," said BJP sources.

Sources also said the representation of women in the Assembly is lesser compared to neighbouring states like Tamil Nadu, Andhra Pradesh and Kerala. The Karnataka Assembly has 10 women MLAs. Of them, five are from Congress, three BJP, one JDS and and another nominated. Most of them are family members of influential leaders in their parties. Karnataka has witnessed six to 10 women MLAs, whereas in 1957 and 1962 (the then Mysuru State), it had seen 13 and 18 women MLAs respectively, which is the highest.

Salim Ahmed, KPCC working president, said they will give tickets to a considerable number of women candidates. "We are preparing to release the first list of candidates of around 130 seats by March 15."

NIA nabs 5 hawala operators in Bihar PFI case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru /Mangaluru

THE National Investigation Agency (NIA) has busted a multi-state hawala network of the banned terrorist organisation, Popular Front of India (PFI), and arrested five hawala operators in last year's Phulwari Sharif, Bihar, PFI case. Of the five arrested, four are from Dakshina Kannada and one from Kasargod in Kerala.

Those arrested from DK are Mahammad Sinan and Iqbal from Panemangalore, Sarfraz Nawaz from Sajipamuda, and Abdul Rafeek M from Puttur taluk, and Abid KM from Kunjathur in Kasaragod. "While tracking the funds being moved by the PFI across the country, the NIA probe into the Phulwari Sharif case have led to the unearthing of a large network of hawala operators in South India and their arrest from Karnataka," the NIA stated.

The NIA teams conducted extensive searches in Kasargod and DK since March 4, leading to the arrest of the five suspects. "Searches were conducted at eight locations during which digital devices and incriminating documents containing details of transactions running into several crores of rupees were seized," it said.

According to the agency, the leads in the investigation established the fact that despite the ban on PFI on September 27 last, "the terrorist organisation and its leaders/cadre continued to propagate the ideology of violent extremism and were also arranging arms and ammunition to commit crimes."

"Following the money trail, the NIA team reached Nawaz and Sinan, who had been making deposits in the bank accounts of the accused and suspects in the PFI case. Dogged pursuit of the money trail and connecting the dots, the NIA managed to unravel the international conspiracy and linkages to funds while investigating Iqbal and other associates, who had collected illegally generated funds from Dubai and Abu Dhabi and handed them over to Sinan, Nawaz, Rafeek and Abid in India. Investigations showed that Sarfaraz, Sinan and Rafeek deposited this money in different bank accounts of the accused and suspects," the NIA stated.

"The PFI cadre in Phulwari Sharif and Motihari had vowed to continue the organisation's activities in a clandestine manner in Bihar and had also arranged a firearm and ammunition to eliminate a youth from a particular community in Bihar's East Champaran district. Three operatives of the module were arrested on February 5," it said.

Before ban, PFI had big reach in K'taka

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THE PFI, before it was banned by the Centre on September 28, 2022, under the UAPA, reportedly had the largest and fastest growing cadre in Karnataka, in comparison with Kerala and Tamil Nadu, sources said.

The banned outfit was building its 'Service Teams' or killer squads in each district, with each team comprising 20-30 hardened members, who were trained to kill prominent members of the other community.

"Members of service teams were trained in weapons handling, attack, surveillance, identifying important members of the other community, killings of 'perceived enemies' and targets, who were largely from the RSS. They were assured of early bail by PFI leaders, following their arrest. The service team members were trained in Puttur," added sources. Last year, NIA had seized a community hall in Puttur, where arms and weapons training was being imparted to select members of the now banned outfit.

Not everyone can become a member of PFI's service team. "They were identified by local leaders and brought into the fold and later trained. Their identity was not disclosed to anyone, not even other PFI members. Once trained, these members were tasked to perform multiple duties; from working as escorts/drivers of the top PFI leadership, providing protection to the outer periphery of the organisation's rallies, to identifying targets and executing murders at the behest of top leaders," added sources.

To become a member of the service team, one had to be an ideologue to push for PFI's agenda of establishing Islamic rule in India by 2047. They had to be able-bodied and fit to handle machetes, knives and cleavers; were in the 20-35 age group, and most were semi-literate. PFI killings were identified by the cut, which was quick, precise and lethal, like a butcher's cut. "The PFI had studied the follies of the banned terrorist outfit -- Students Islamic Movement of India (SIMI) -- and taken all steps to prevent the organisation from being banned. The Nettaru case proved a catalyst for their ban," added sources.

"The PFI identified their targets based on their popularity and ease of operation. Along with Praveen Nettaru, they had identified three other targets to avenge the murder of Kalanja Masood. They found Nettaru an easy target because of the location of his shop in Bellare, where he was killed in full public view with lethal weapons," the NIA chargesheet mentioned.

The impact of the murder was huge. Following Nettaru's murder, BJP Yuva Morcha office-bearers from across the state tendered their resignations en masse. A group of ABVP activists held a protest at Home Minister Araga Jnanendra's residence in Bengaluru, demanding a ban on the PFI and its affiliates, and some BJP leaders attacked the government and party state president Nalin Kumar Kateel for their failure to protect party workers. The arrest of Thufail MH, the district head of PFI's 'Service Team' and former PFI district secretary, Kodagu, from his house in Amruthahalli in Bengaluru on March 4 by NIA, is a major breakthrough in the Nettaru case. The NIA is hot on the trail of two key absconders -- Mustafa Paichar and Kodaje Mohammed Sherif – in the sensational murder case. "They are leaders of the now defunct service teams and had identified key targets," said sources.

Besides Paichar and Sherif Masud KA, Abubakkar Siddik and Ummar Farook MR are also absconding. They have been charge-sheeted by the NIA.

Calves with their dead mother elephants, which were electrocuted in a farm in Kendenahalli village, Dharmapuri district, on Tuesday | EXPRESS

Three wild elephants electrocuted in TN farm

S SENTHIL KUMAR @ Coimbatore

THREE wild elephants, including two females and a Makhna elephant, were electrocuted at a farm at Kendenahalli village, near Kaaligounder kottai in Dharmapuri district on Monday night. Two elephant calves (both aged one) that also came along with the deceased elephants survived after the TANGEDCO officials disconnected power supply after being alerted by the Tamil Nadu forest department staff who were already monitoring animal movement.

The staff managed to reach the place only after hearing a loud noise due to electrocution. Due to the death of a mother elephant, the two calves who were unable to bear the shock were repeatedly approaching the carcass in an attempt to wake up their mother throughout the night.

This is the first time in recent history that three elephants died due to electrocution in a single incident in Tamil Nadu since three elephants at a time is a rare occurrence. During the investigation, it was found that out of five elephants that entered the farm owned by K Muregasan in search of water and food, three cow elephants were killed on the spot due to electrocution. The team led by Forest Range Officer of Palacode forest Natraj arrested Muregasan (50), who is cultivating maize, ragi and coconut on his 20-acre land, which has been illegally given power connection to protect it from wild boars.

HOME ALONE COLLEGE GIRL ROBBED AT KNIFEPOINT

PRAVEEN KUMAR @Bengaluru

AN 18-year-old first year B. Com student was robbed at knife point by a three-member gang at her house on Bengaluru-Anekal road on Friday afternoon.

The victim, R Keerthana, was alone at home at Lakshmi Nagar Layout when two persons asked her open the door saying that they were looking for a person in the locality. When she was about to close the door after talking to them, the accused barged into the house and robbed her of gold ornaments after gagging and tying her up. Later, they searched the house and found gold and silver ornaments. Meanwhile, another person joined them. The trio then pushed her inside the bathroom and escaped after locking the front door from outside.

The victim, who managed to untie herself after sometime, screamed for help. Her neighbours, who rushed to her rescue, called the police.

The incident happened between 1 pm and 1.15 pm. In her complaint, Keerthana stated that the accused were wearing masks. They took away 40 gm of gold ornaments and other valuables worth Rs 2 lakh. They also took away her cell phone, leaving the SIM card behind.

"The accused did not harm my daughter. But she suffered minor injuries when they pushed her inside the bathroom. The accused spoke Kannada in north Karnataka accent. They were carrying college bags," Keerthana's father Ravindra Gowda said.

A case of robbery, extortion, trespass and criminal intimidation has been registered against the accused.

CLOSE CHASM OF INEQUALITY TO MATCH PER CAPITA INCOME RISE

It is good to know that India's per capita income doubled to ₹1.72 lakh from ₹86,647 in FY2015 when the current Narendra Modi government took charge. Though these figures, released by the National Statistical Office (NSO), are the nominal average annual income of an individual, not considering the impact of inflation, they show the country has registered significant economic growth. Even in real terms, taking constant prices, income has increased by 35% from ₹72,808 in 2014–15 to ₹98,118 in 2022–23. The NSO data also shows a significant negative impact on individual incomes because of the lockdowns during the Covid period, when both nominal and real income dipped sharply. However, since April 2021, there has been a strong positive rebound.

Translating this into an annual snapshot, government policies and individual entrepreneurship have ensured the country's per capita income in real terms has been growing at 5.6% per annum. Policies encouraging financial inclusion, such as the distribution of free rations under the Right to Food programme, and the cash transfer to farmers of ₹6,000 a year under the PM-KISAN scheme, have had a positive impact. However, scratch the surface, and it will be seen that rising income levels are mostly restricted to the 10% of the richest Indians. For those at the bottom of the pyramid, real incomes may have, in fact, been shrinking over the years.

The rising inequality is, therefore, a huge source of worry. A report released on January 16 this year by the charity Oxfam at Davos says between 2012 and 2021, 40% of the wealth created in India has gone to just 1% of the population, and only a mere 3% of the wealth has accrued to the poorest 50%. The report Survival of the Richest: The India story also says that while the total number of dollar billionaires in India increased from 102 in 2020 to 166 in 2022, the number of those who went to bed hungry increased to 350 million in 2022 from 190 million in 2018. Malnutrition continues to be a major cause of death among children, while the increasing rural-urban divide triggers mass migration from our villages to overcrowded cities. The government must therefore ensure justice through the redistribution of wealth and focus on raising the income levels of those being crushed by poverty at the end of the scale.

BEWARE OF NEW BUG, DON'T SELF-MEDICATE

A heady mix of viruses seems to be sweeping parts of India. West Bengal has reported a spate of child fatalities believed to have been caused by adenovirus, prompting the state government to assuage parents' growing fear as hospitals became increasingly occupied. Elsewhere, illness caused by H3N2, an Influenza A subtype, has seen a rapid surge. Footprints of respiratory syncytial virus have also been found. If doctors are to go by, the Influenza B subtype, too, has been detected around the same time. Much of these viral infections, which remained dormant during the Covid pandemic, appear to have returned with a vengeance and the 'cold bug' has shown a sudden uptick. However, it is the H3N2 infection which has raised the hackles among the healthcare community, and the ICMR has also issued an advisory. Interestingly, the eastern state of Odisha first reported the H3N2 outbreak during the fag end of 2022, since the seasonal flu peaks in winter. The H3N2 has since replaced the slowly dominant H1N1 count, leading to lasting complications in patients. As per ICMR data, 10% of the H3N2 affected need oxygen support, while about 7% require intensive care.

So far, the adenovirus outbreak has been limited to West Bengal, and the Mamata Banerjee government has announced that the caseload is on the wane and the situation is under control. But other states must also adopt adequate caution. However, given the infectiousness of H3N2 and its bundle of complications, this Influenza A subtype must be given adequate attention. One of the challenges with H3N2 is the limited testing facilities available in the government sector, while in private establishments, the diagnostic cost is prohibitive. Medical practitioners must advise tests so as to encourage patients not to take the self-medication route. ICMR has already flagged the mindless use of self-prescribed antibiotics, but it is necessary that governments—Centre and states—mount surveillance and sensitisation.

The flu caused by H3N2 is preventable through annual vaccination, upgraded yearly based on the varying strains—unlike adenovirus-induced illness, which does not have a vaccine. For that to happen, a concerted effort is the need of the hour. Covid has already left its "long" impression on a vast populace, and other evolving and mutating viruses must not be allowed to add to the burden.

QUICK TAKE

NO PLACE TO PLAY

The SC recently observed there couldn't be a school without a playground because students are entitled to a good environment. Just so the judiciary knows, the latest data shows that over three lakh schools in the country lack a playground. The RTE Act deemed playgrounds an essential infrastructural necessity. But the fact is, schools in crowded urban areas barely have space for classrooms. The government allows them to rent out public parks or adjoining vacant grounds. Parents shell out extra, though. As urban spaces shrink, the only option is mandatory public sports complexes in residential localities for regular use by children.

The story of women's emancipation in the country has proceeded painfully slowly, but on the positive side in only one direction and has never made a U-turn

HER STORY, MY STORY: WHY I AM HOPEFUL ABOUT GENDER JUSTICE

DROUPADI MURMU
President of India

SOUMYADIP SINHA

On Constitution Day last year, I was delivering the valedictory address at the celebrations organised by the Supreme Court of India. Talking of justice, I thought of the undertrial prisoners and then could not resist speaking about their plight. I spoke from the heart, and it made an impact. On International Women's Day today, I want to share some thoughts with you in the same spirit—straight from the heart.

Right from my childhood days, I have remained perplexed about the status of women in society. On the one hand, a girl child receives so much love from all around her and is even worshipped on auspicious days. On the other hand, she learns very soon that the possibilities open before her in life are fewer than those available to boys her age.

On the one hand, a woman is respected for her innate wisdom, even appreciated as the central figure of the family who takes care of everybody. On the other hand, she has a limited role, if at all, in nearly all significant decisions about the family or even herself.

Over the years, as I stepped out of home, first as a student, then as a teacher and later in social service, I could not help but wonder about such paradoxical attitudes. Sometimes I felt that as individuals, most of us recognise men and women as equal. However, collectively, the same people impose limits on half of us. During my lifetime, I have seen most individuals progressing towards the notion of equality. However, old customs and traditions, like old habits, linger on at the social level.

This is the story of all women around the world. Every other human being on earth begins life with a kind of hindrance. In the 21st century, when we have achieved unimaginable all-around progress, many nations are yet to have a woman as the head of the state or head of the government. At the other end of the spectrum, unfortunately, there are places in the world where even today, women are considered lesser human beings; even going to school can be a question of life and death for a girl!

This was not always so. In India, there were times when women were decision-makers. Our scriptures and history talk of women known for their valour, scholarship or administrative skills. Today, again, countless women are, of course, contributing to nation-building in their chosen fields. They are heading corporate firms and even serving in the armed forces. The only difference is that they have to prove their worth in two domains—they have to excel in their careers and homes. They do not complain, but all they expect from society is that it reposes confidence in them.

This leads to a curious situation. We have a healthy representation of women at the grassroots level in various decision-making structures. But as we go up in the hierarchy, we see fewer and fewer women. This is as true for political bodies as for the bureaucracy, the judiciary and the corporate world. What is noticeable is that even the states with higher literacy rates display the same trend. It shows that education alone does not guarantee financial and political autonomy for women.

Therefore, I firmly believe that the social mindset needs to be changed. The deeply ingrained gender prejudices must be identified and purged to create a peaceful and prosperous society. Conscious efforts have been made to promote social justice and equality. But these steps have not proved adequate to ensure gender representation. In education and jobs, for example, women lag far behind men more because of social conditioning than any design.

In several convocations that I attended in different parts of the country, I have noticed that women, if given a chance, often outperform men in academia. It is this indomitable spirit of Indian women and our society that gives me confidence about India emerging as the torchbearer of gender justice in the world.

It is certainly not the case that one half of humanity has had any head start by keeping the other half behind. The fact is that this mismatch is hurting the whole of humanity because the two wheels of its cart are unequal. Economic progress and climate action would also increase if women were included in decision-making. I am sure that the world will be a much better place if women are made equal stakeholders in the progress of humanity.

I am, indeed, hopeful that the future is bright. I have seen in my life that people change and attitudes change. That is indeed the story of our race; otherwise, we would still be living in caves.

The story of women's emancipation has proceeded slowly, often painfully slow, but it has proceeded only in one direction and has never made a U-turn. That gives me the confidence to believe, as I have often stated, that the coming Amrit Kaal up to the centenary of India's Independence belongs to young women.

What makes me hopeful is that we as a nation began with a sound foundation of gender justice. About a century ago, Mahatma Gandhi's campaigns during the freedom struggle encouraged women to cross the threshold and step out into the world. Since then, our society and women, in particular, have aspired to build a better future. Prejudices and customs not favourable to women are done away with either through legislation or awareness. This seemed to have a positive impact as Parliament today has the highest number of women's representation.

Needless to say, my election as the President of the world's largest democracy is a part of the saga of women's empowerment. I believe the spirit of "innate leadership in motherhood" needs to be invoked to promote gender justice. A slew of government programmes to directly empower women, such as Beti Bachao Beti Padhao, are steps in the right direction.

We should also appreciate that societies take time to match steps with the best of progressive ideas. But societies are composed of human beings—half of them women—and it is up to us, each of us, to hasten the progress.

Thus, today, I wish to urge each of you to commit yourself to one change in your family, neighbourhood or workplace—any change that would bring a smile to a girl's face, any change that would improve her chances of moving ahead in life. As I said before, that is one request straight from the heart.

DIALECTIC OF IMPLEMENTING AND OPPOSING NATIONAL EDU POLICY

DR AMRUTH G KUMAR
Professor, Central University of Kerala

Is it mandatory for all the states to implement the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020? Many teachers and parents ask, especially from Tamil Nadu and Kerala. The Tamil Nadu and Kerala governments are strongly opposing the implementation of NEP 2020. West Bengal and Telangana are also coy about the implementation. Tamil Nadu has even reached the court, raising concerns about certain provisions of the policy. Asking TN to implement the National Education Policy is cruel, said the TN government in the Madras High Court. Kerala, on the other hand, appointed a committee under the leadership of leading Left intellectual Prof. Prabhat Patnaik, to scrutinise how congruent NEP 2020 was to the government's declared stands. The question is pertinent: do states have a constitutional obligation to implement NEP 2020?

The repercussions of the first National Policy on Education (NPE) in 1968 spurred discussions on transfering education from the state list and to the concurrent list. There were vehement protests in Tamil Nadu against the NPE of 1968, which suggested that Hindi be taught in schools along with English and the local language. Tamil Nadu was reluctant to implement the National Policy on Education although the Constitution gave it the power to do so by allocating education to the state list. A series of protests erupted in the state under the leadership of Annadurai against the trilingual policy recommended by the NPE of 1968. The resistance had the effect of making Indira Gandhi's brows contract into a frown—during Emergency, she indiscreetly lugged education from the state list to concurrent list.

The history of national policies on education (1968 and 1986) shows that the onus of implementing the policy is not legally binding on the states as there is no trace of litigations between states and the Centre in this matter. Due to various political, linguistic and social reasons, India has a history of not being able to fully implement these policies. For example, the policy of 1986 suggested that every state should start an open university. But in Kerala, an open university was started in 2020. Tamil Nadu never embraced the proposal to teach Hindi as a second or third language. Jawahar Navodaya Vidyalayas in all districts was a major directive of the NPE of 1986. But Tamil Nadu did not encourage such schools to come up—till date, not a single Jawahar Navodaya school exists in this state. There are cases in which the Central government itself ignored the recommendations of the National Policy on Education. The government did not take seriously the 1986 policy's recommendation that an agency should be set up to conduct assessments and evaluations at the national level. Only in 2017 did an organisation called the National Testing Agency get established at the national level. This was due to the pressing need for a professional institution to conduct high-stakes examinations rather than the need to implement the directives of the NPE of 1986.

> Some pro-NEP actions have started brewing from oppugnant states these days. The best example is Kerala's higher education minister announcing that four-year undergraduate courses, a major proposal in the National Education Policy, will start this year

We have a history of keeping aside the constitutional provisions. Article 45 stated that compulsory and free education shall be provided to all children up to the age of 14 within ten years of the commencement of the Constitution. Unfortunately, in 1966, a few years after the Constitution celebrated its 10th year of implementation, the all India enrollment ratio in primary school disparaged Article 45 with just 76.7, while middle school and secondary school ratios stood at 30.8 and 16.2, respectively. (MHRD, 2008). The Right to Education bill made education a fundamental right of children only in 2010.

Even when there is no legal obligation, state governments are forced to implement certain recommendations of NEP 2020. For example, NEP 2020 recommends that the school structure be divided into four levels: Foundational, Preparatory, Middle and Secondary (5+3+3+4). National institutes like IITs, NITs, other central institutes and universities admit students who followed the 10+2 system for graduate admission—this would later on be revised to 5+3+3+4. Therefore, in the future, the states reluctant to implement structural changes in the school system would make aspiring students and parents distressed. Naturally, a torrent of students can be expected from state schools to CBSE schools in these states.

Other recommendations of NEP that may become popular in the field of higher education are the suggestions of an Academic Bank of Credit (ABC), a four-year degree, multiple entry and exit points, and Integrated Teacher Education Programme, all addressing the demands of the labour market. ABC and multiple entry and exit options are alluring offers for the latent labour force in higher education institutions. Besides, if the projects implemented at the national level are not followed at the state level, the financial assistance given on its behalf will also be lost. Further, the structural reforms in schools, reforms in teacher education, and ranking and grading in higher education, are other areas that have significant impact on the institutions and students of oppugnant states.

Some pro-NEP actions have started brewing from oppugnant states these days. The best example is Kerala's higher education minister announcing that four-year undergraduate courses, a major proposal in the National Education Policy, will start this year despite the Kerala government's strong opposition to NEP. The universities in Tamil Nadu have already started adopting some features of the policy. It is a win-win situation for the oppugnant states. Anna University registered for ABC and is the 71st institution to do so among 307 state universities. Many universities from oppugnant states are also figuring in the list, like Cochin University of Science and Technology in Kerala. Needless to say, implement it while opposing vehemently! After all, the oxymoron is a part and parcel of politics.

Rahul equates RSS with Muslim Brotherhood

Collapse of Indian democracy will play out at global level, he says

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

SHARPENING his attack on BJP's ideological mentor Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), Congress leader Rahul Gandhi called it a "fundamentalist and fascist" organisation. He said RSS captured all of India's institutions such as the press, judiciary, Parliament and the Election Commission.

Gandhi made the allegations during an interactive session at the 'Chatham House think-tank in London' on Monday.

"RSS is a secret society and it is built along the lines of the Muslim Brotherhood. When I joined politics in 2004, the democratic contest in India used to be between political parties. I'd never imagined at that time that the nature of the contest would change completely. The reason it has changed is that one organisation, called the RSS — fundamentalist, fascist organisation — has captured all of India's institutions," said the Wayanad MP.

After coming under attack from BJP over his statement that the US and Europe are oblivious to eroding democracy, he chose to adopt a nuanced position during the interaction.

"This is an internal problem and the solution should come from inside. However, the scale of Indian democracy means that Indian democracy is a public good. We will deal with our problem. If Indian democracy collapses, it will impact way farther than our borders. You must be aware that the biggest idea of the democratic model is under attack and it will play out at the global level."

On the party's electoral setbacks in the past few years, he said that a set of changes taking place in India had caught the Congress off guard.

To say that the BJP is in power and the Congress gone is a ridiculous idea, he said. "We are not allowed to debate in Parliament on some of the biggest decisions such as the demonetisation. We were not allowed to have a conversation in Parliament on the Farmers Bill, GST, or the Chinese incursion on the borders," he said.

On a question on India's China policy, Gandhi drew similarities between Chinese troops on the Ladakh and Arunachal Pradesh borders and Ukraine.

"If you look at what happened in Ukraine, Russia has told Ukraine that we do not accept its relationship with Europe and America and if you do not change this relationship, we will challenge your territorial integrity."

Gandhi scion influenced by Maoists, retorts BJP

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

IRKED at Congress leader Rahul Gandhi's criticism of the RSS and the state of democracy in India in his lectures in London, the BJP continued its attack on him on Tuesday.

> If the country defeats you again and again, don't vent your anger out by going abroad and insulting India
>
> Ravi Shankar Prasad, BJP MP

BJP MP and former law minister Ravi Shankar Prasad said, "It is our clear allegation that Rahul Gandhi is under the influence of chaotic and Maoist elements. The RSS teaches the lessons of national service, national love and devotion to the nation. How can one say like that against it? We condemn it."

He said the RSS has done a great job for the country. Nehru, Indira and Rajiv Gandhi also used to criticise the RSS, but where did the Sangh reach now and where did they all end up? Prasad said that Gandhi's lecture in London has blurred the country's image on foreign soil.

"Through his lecture, Gandhi has made a mockery of India's Parliament, India's politics, India's laws and security and India's people," he remarked.

The BJP asked Gandhi to stop insulting India on foreign soil. "If the country defeats you again and again, don't vent out your anger by insulting India," Prasad quipped. The BJP attacked Gandhi for forgetting Parliamentary norms, political propriety and 'democratic shame' by criticising India on a foreign soil.

PM asks pvt sector to jack up investments

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR
@New Delhi

TWO days after former RBI governor Raghuram Rajan's remark that the country is 'dangerously' close to Hindu rate of growth, Prime Minister Narendra Modi, asserted, albeit indirectly, that India is moving forward with new capabilities.

The PM said India in today's time is considered a bright spot in the global economy and has attracted the highest FDI in 2021-22.

Speaking at a post-Budget webinar on 'Enhancing Efficiency of Financial Services for Creating Growth Opportunities' on Tuesday, Modi claimed the banking system has come into profit after being on the verge of collapse 8-10 years ago.

"In the era of 'Industry 4.0', platforms developed by India are becoming models for the world". Modi made a fervent appeal to India investors to increase investment taking advantage of opportunities created by the Budget 2023-24.

"I would also call upon the private sector of the country to increase their investment just like the government so that the country gets maximum benefit from it," he said.

He added that the increase in the tax base has come as a proof that people have faith in the government believing that their taxes paid are being properly utilised for nation building.

Around 1.20 crore MSMEs have received the supports from the government during the pandemic, he noted.

The Food Corporation of India has sold over 50 per cent of allocated grain (45 LT) as wheat flour, reducing the market price by over 25 per cent

Lack of infra at co-ops, Kendriya Bhandar shows in atta sale

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

CENTRAL cooperatives and federations could sell only around 8 per cent of the allotted three lakh tonne (LT) wheat as atta (wheat flour).

This has resulted in lower impact on the retail price of atta relative to wheat price as in the past month the retail rates of atta was reduced by around 10 per cent only.

According to the Department of Consumer Affairs, the atta price on February 1 was around ₹35, which was reduced to ₹32 by March 2. However, the price of wheat was around ₹30 per kg, which was reduced to ₹22 in the Delhi market.

On the other hand, the Food Cooperation of India (FCI) sold over 50 per cent of allocated grain (45 LT) as wheat flour, reducing the market price by over 25 per cent.

In January, the government had decided to offload 30 lakh tonne (LT) wheat into the market through its different agencies to address the rising price of wheat and atta. Later, the government said another another 20 LT will be offloaded.

The government has allocated 45 LT to FCI and 3 LT to cooperative and federation agencies such as the National Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Federation of India Ltd (NAFED), KendriyaBhandar (KB) and National Cooperative Consumers Federation of India Limited (NCCF).

The government had allocated wheat of quantity 1 LT to NAFED, 1.3 LT to Kendriya Bhandar and 68,000 tonnes to NCCF at a concessional rate of ₹21.50 per kg, which would be converted into atta for selling at a cheap rate of ₹27.50 Kg.

As per official data seen by this reporter, NCCF is only able to sell 10,500 tonne, followed by NAFED (9,500 tonne) and KB (5,600 tonne).

"Like FCI, these agencies do not have infrastructure on the ground to sell aata," said a senior NAFED officer.

The FCI has a robust system of procurements from designated mandis and distribution through established public distribution shops network.

Taliban diktat: Ban on Afghan girls stays

YESHI SELI @New Delhi

AFGHAN women have nothing to cheer about this Women's Day (March 8th) as they don't even have the basic rights to higher education. The new academic year began on March 6 and the Taliban-led regime has banned girls from being enrolled.

"This is inhuman for women, but we can do little to challenge the radical mindset. We have nothing to cheer about and can only wish that someday we too get a chance to celebrate the Womens Day," said Nazia, an expat. Ironically, less than a month ago the Taliban government had highlighted the opening of two primary girls schools in Laghman which was made with the support of UN High Commissioner for Refugees.

Adding insult to injury is Taliban government deciding to annul divorces of women who were into abusive marriages. "Women are being forced to go back to their abusive husbands, as a result of which some are going into hiding. Women are living a nightmare in Afghanistan at present," Nazia said.

The women who got legal separation under the government are the ones whose marriages are being annulled by the Taliban. On Tuesday, a joint statement of the first meet of India-Central Asia Joint Working Group on Afghanistan emphasised on women's rights.

"We emphasised on the formation of a truly inclusive and representative political structure that respects the rights of all Afghans and ensures equal rights of women, girls and members of minority groups including access to education," the statement read.

These joint statements will have no impact on the way the Taliban mindset works and it will require a long drawn out effort to grant women basic rights.

Amshipora: Court martial suggestion under tech review

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

THE Indian Army's General Court Martial (GCM) recommendation of life imprisonment for a Captain and two others has been sent for technical evaluation. "Keeping the aspects of fair trials and objective process the complete trial report of the GCM has been sent for technical evaluation," sources confirmed.

"It is a sensitive case and the Army doesn't want to keep any loophole so that it is not found wanting if the case is challenged further. The scrutiny of the process and statements is done with a purpose of re-evaluation to "give a fair chance to those against whom the punishment has been recommended, which evaluates even the quantum of punishment," the sources added.

'AFSPA violated'

It was ascertained that there was a violation of the Armed Forces Special Powers Act (AFSPA). According to sources, once the technical evaluation of the court martial's recommendations – which may take a month or two – is complete it will be sent to the senior officers

It was ascertained that there was a violation of the Armed Forces Special Powers Act (AFSPA).

The case relates to an encounter in 2020 in Amshipora in Shopian district in Jammu and Kashmir. Indian Army's troops under the command of Captain Bhoopendra Singh had claimed to have killed three terrorists and reports of recovery of weapons from the place of encounter was also shown.

But the relatives of the three youth killed in an encounter on July 18, 2020, approached police saying that the three were labourers and had travelled on foot to Srinagar in search of a job. The three youths, Imtiyaz Ahmed (20), Abrar Ahmed (25) and Mohammed Abrar (16), were from Jammu's Rajouri district.

The J&K Police set up an SIT, which filed a charge sheet which found three persons, including Captain Singh, "staging" the encounter. The Army initiated a Court of Inquiry which confirmed in September 2020 that the three youth claimed to be killed in the encounter were the labourers.

Their identities were further confirmed by DNA tests. Going ahead the Army conducted a Summary of Evidence. "The technical evaluation might take another month or two and once the technical evaluation of the GCM recommendations is complete it will be sent to the senior officers," sources said.

The life sentence is subject to confirmation by higher army authorities, the officials said. The Srinagar-based Corps Commander and the Commander in Chief of the Northern Command will be apprised of the case further once the evaluation is complete, officials said.

'Prisons fare poorly in menstrual hygiene'

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

INDIAN jails have no menstrual hygiene management in place despite 80 per cent menstruating women lodged in prisons, according to a study.

Prisons don't provide unlimited free sanitary pads or proper waste disposal or any sensitisation programme for menstrual health management either to prisoners to staff, according to a study conducted by CHRI and NGO Boondh.

The study, conducted in 11 prisons, including two each in Tamil Nadu, Andhra Pradesh, and Kerala, and one in Karnataka, found that as no law stipulates free, unlimited sanitary menstrual products, including disposable pads. Women in these prisons have different levels of access to sanitary pads– 8 from 25.

None of the prisons in seven states reported offering other types of menstrual products, the report by Commonwealth Human Rights Initiative (CHRI) and Boondh, which works on menstrual literacy, policy, advocacy, programming, activism and sustainable products.

All the prisons get 'one size' sanitary pads, the report said, which focused on women prisons and excluded menstruating prisoners who are housed in enclosures in male prisons.

It found a lack of data on the amount of water available to women inmates, as many prisons are not measuring the amount of water they have.

"No prison rules contain provisions for providing hot water to women prisoners to manage menstruation. It is provided only when the medical officer recommends it on the grounds of health issues or if requested by the woman prisoner," the report said.

The disposal of menstrual hygiene materials is often overlooked, to the detriment of both women and the facilities, said the report.

Madhurima Dhanuka, Programme Head, Prison Reforms Programme, CHRI, said, "Menstrual hygiene management is an issue less discussed in India, and even lesser in the context of prisons."

"The difficulties of managing one's period in prison for menstruating prisoners need more attention. From our experience, many issues are faced -- from quality and quantity of sanitary products to their proper waste disposal, to managing pain and seeking medical help from specialised doctors -- every prison which lodges women inmates needs a closer look," she said.

First batch of command course for women officers to begin this month

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

THE Army has taken another step to equip its women officers to take over the command duties, as the first batch of women officers for the senior command course will report at the Army War College at the end of March.

Sources confirmed that the Senior Level Tactical Orientation Course equivalent to Senior Command Course will begin from March 23 at Mhow, Indore. "The course duration will be of six weeks and 97 out of 108 empanelled officers have been detailed for the course," a source said.

Those attending the course are the ones medically cleared and it is a specially tailored course thus will be of a shortened duration. The normal Senior Command Course is of 10 weeks duration.

This course is done by all officers who are likely to be promoted to the rank of Colonel for taking over responsibilities as the Commanding Officer of an army unit (battalion or regiment of his arm or service). The course prepares them for their unit command functions.

The command of a unit is an important and decisive stage of training because performance at this stage is the most important criteria for selecting officers for promotion thereafter as senior leaders of the Army.

A Special Number 3 Selection Board for Women officers for promotion from Lieutenant Colonel to Colonel was conducted with effect from January 9 to January 21 this year. A total of 244 Women Officers were considered by the Special Number 3 Selection Board and a total of 108 Women Officers have been empanelled.

Officers for the rank of Colonel and above are selected by a board of officers. An officer ranked as Colonel will command independent functional units of the Indian Army.

Beyond this come the formations, and collections of such Units, like Brigades, Divisions and Corps commanded by the Brigadiers, Major Generals and Lieutenant Generals, respectively.

The task on the ground is executed by the units. In the normal course of service selection for command is done at around 17 years of service.

Sangma, Rio sworn in as CMs in presence of Modi, Shah

Rio takes oath for fifth time, whereas Sangma at the helm for second straight term

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

CONRAD K Sangma and Neiphiu Rio were on Tuesday sworn in as the chief ministers of Meghalaya and Nagaland, respectively.

This is the second straight chief ministerial term for Sangma (45), who heads the National People's Party (NPP) that emerged as the single largest party by bagging 26 of Meghalaya's 60 seats.

Rio, 72, took oath as chief minister for the fifth time, second in a row as the leader of the Nationalist Democratic Progressive Party (NDPP), which won 25 seats and emerged as the single largest party in the 60-member House. He was with the Naga People's Front (NPF) during his first three terms as chief minister.

Sangma and Rio took oath in the presence of Prime Minister Narendra Modi, home minister Amit Shah, BJP national president JP Nadda and Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma. Modi, Shah and Nadda will attend the swearing-in ceremony of Manik Saha as the Tripura chief minister on Wednesday.

Sangma's five-party and 45-MLA coalition has been named Meghalaya Democratic Alliance 2.0 considering that it has been formed with the parties of previous MDA government. The constituents are NPP, BJP, United Democratic Party (UDP), Hill State People's Democratic Party (HSPDP) and People's Democratic Front (PDF) besides two independents.

A maximum of 12 could be inducted into the ministry. The NPP kept eight ministerial berths and allotted two to the UDP and one each to the BJP and HSPDP. The two BJP legislators will share the five-year ministerial term for two and half years each. The only woman inducted into the ministry is former Congress minister Ampareen Lyngdoh.

The state got two deputy chief ministers, Prestone Tynsong and Sniawbhalang Dhar (both from NPP). The duo and Sangma together represent the state's three regions. Sangma is from Garo Hills, Tynsong from Khasi Hills and Dhar from Jaintia Hills. Abu Taher Mondal is the only non-tribal to feature in Sangma's ministry.

In Nagaland, the NDPP kept seven ministerial berths and allotted five to ally BJP. The NDPP's Salhoutuonuo Kruse is the only woman inducted into the ministry. The two parties went to elections after striking a seat-sharing deal and won 37 seats – 25 by NDPP and 12 by BJP.

As in Meghalaya, Nagaland, too, got two deputy chief ministers – Yanthungo Patton (BJP) and former chief minister TR Zeliang (NDPP). Zeliang was with NPF but defected to NDPP last year along with 20 party MLAs.

Meet Kruse, Nagaland's first woman minister

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @Guwahati

JUST five days after she had created history by getting elected to the Nagaland Assembly, Salhoutuonuo Kruse achieved yet another milestone on Tuesday by becoming first woman minister in the state.

She and Hekani Jakhalu went into the annals of state's history on March 2 by winning the Assembly polls. Nagaland attained statehood in 1963 but no woman before them won an Assembly election.

In the 60-member Nagaland House, a maximum of 12 can be inducted into the ministry. Jakhalu and Kruse are members of Nationalist Democratic Progressive Party. Kruse won from the Western Angami seat in Kohima district by only 7 votes.

Kruse, 55, was ecstatic after being sworn in as a minister. "I am very happy that I have been given this responsibility. I will do what I can and encourage women to be brave, sincere and hardworking so that we can work together and gain whatever we have not gained yet," she said. Recently, she told this newspaper that she faced many challenges in the elections.

"The first challenge, of course, was my decision to contest as no woman ever won the state elections in Nagaland. Then, the Naga society still has a bit of patriarchal mindset," she had said. From a tender age, she had a heart to serve the society and this was reflected in her association with NGOs.

Her husband contested once but was not successful. He wanted to contest this election but lost his life to Covid in 2021. Jakhalu, the US-educated lawyer and social entrepreneur, viewed her victory and that of Kruse as the victory of women.

Political activities to pick up in Valley

The political activities are likely to pick up in Kashmir with the improving weather conditions. Of all the political parties, BJP is the most active in the Valley. It has been holding regular party workers' meetings in Srinagar. However, other parties including National Conference Apni Party, PDP and DPAP of Ghulam Nabi Azad are likely to increase their activities and reach out to the supporters and political workers. The Congress, which is upbeat over public participation of Rahul Gandhi's Yatra in the Valley, too would be increasing its activities in Kashmir to consolidate the support base.

Srinagar to get cherry theme garden

Srinagar, which is known for tulip farms and Mughal-era gardens, would soon have a cherry theme garden on the pattern of Japanese Sakura. The modalities in this regard are being finalised by the J&K administration with the Japanese authorities. The cherry theme garden is a ₹10 crore project, which is an extension plan for Tulip Garden in Srinagar to make it more attractive for visitors. The project is being facilitated by the Union Ministry of External Affairs. According to officials, 2,500 cherry trees will be required for the project which will be procured in a phased manner.

Valley to get unique bridge in Wayil area

The Valley's first arch-truss-Girder bridge is coming up in Wayil area of Central Kashmir's Ganderbal district on Srinagar-Leh highway and it is nearing completion. The bridge, which was constructed using a unique combination of truss and arch bridge elements and girders, is a remarkable engineering feat. The ₹23.79 crores worth two-lane bridge with a span of 110 meters and a width of 10.50 meters has been funded by the World Bank. The work had started in 2020. The bridge will not only end the frequent traffic snarls but would also add to the attraction of tourists.

ISRO: Chamoli, Rudraprayag most prone to landslides

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

THE latest report of the Indian Space Research Organization (ISRO) has raised concerns over the threat of landslides in Uttarakhand's Chamoli and Rudraprayag districts. This is the second ISRO report after January this year that said that the entire Joshimath town could sink due to land subsidence.

The grim prospects for Chamoli and Rudraprayag are revealed in the recently released landslide map report of ISRO's National Remote Sensing Centre (NRSC). The report analyses landslide risks across the hill state. The report says all 13 districts of Uttarakhand are among the 147 most landslide-affected districts in the country. Among them, Chamoli ranks 19th in the country in terms of landslide risk. Rudraprayag is most vulnerable to landslides in the country and Tehri ranks second among the 10 most vulnerable districts in the country in terms of landslide risk.

Dr DP Dobhal, former scientist at the Wadia Institute of Himalayan Geology, told this newspaper: "The entire Himalayan region is vulnerable to landslides. There should be a detailed study based on this NRSC report with a prognosis on factors like the damage from landslides and population.

"This can help policy regulators to decide what kind of planning they have to make," said Dobhal. According to the report, all 13 districts of Uttarakhand are among the 147 most landslide-affected districts. Among them, Chamoli district ranks 19th in the country in terms of landslide risk.

Significantly, Joshimath town of Chamoli district is already in the grip of landslides. Scientists are technically investigating it and sensing the danger. However, satellite images show that Uttarkashi ranks 21st in the country.

"As of now in the investigations no link of the boy has been found with any gangster. But we are trying to find out why he sent the emails threatening Moosewala's father," Singh said. During the Dharna, Agriculture Minister assured the parents that the CM would meet them, however, Opposition pointed out that the CM did not meet them today itself.

Unseasonal rain, hailstorm damage Rabi crop in central and west MP

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

CHIEF Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan has ordered a survey into the damage caused to the standing Rabi crops, due to unseasonal rain and hailstorm in many parts of Madhya Pradesh's central and western regions on Monday evening and night.

CHHATTISGARH is increasingly preparing non-toxic and chemical-free herbal gulal colours, made available with the help of gauthans (cattle shelter premises).

Ahead of the festival of colours, the women groups engaged in various gauthans in Chhattisgarh state are making herbal gulal using various flowers they collect from temples, marriage ceremonies, flower cultivation fields and markets. These groups generate additional source of income generated for themselves. The groups simultaneously use other ingredients such as beetroot, spinach, turmeric, pomegranate, marigold and their leaves to prepare chemical-free power solutions.

"While we are assisted on how to make colours (gulal), support is also provided for its packaging and sale", said Ambika Sahu from Mahasamund district whose group made over 100 kg herbal gulal and all were sold.

Owing to high demand for herbal gulal across Chhattisgarh besides the adjoining states of Odisha and Madhya Pradesh, the women at Jarwoy Gauthan in Raipur Municipal Corporation limit have joined hands to prepare eco-friendly chemical-free colours.

"Over 300 kg of herbal gulal prepared by self help groups of Jarwoy gauthan were sent last week to Sambalpur in Odisha. There remains a huge demand for such herbal gulal in various colours which are made in gauthan maintaining standards of hygiene", said Sanjay Sharma, nodal officer of the gauthan.

In yet another achievement to empower the women self-help groups (SHGs) in the state, over 25,000 kg of herbal gulal worth ₹48 lakh prepared by them has been exported to Europe through Mundra port in Gujarat last year.

Xi accuses US of leading West to suppress China

Min Qin Gang says Beijing & Washington heading to conflict

BEIJING

PRESIDENT Xi Jinping has accused the United States of leading Western nations to suppress China's development which, he said, brought unprecedented challenges to the country's development.

"Western countries, led by the US, have implemented all-round containment and suppression of China, which has brought unprecedented severe challenges to the country's development," Xi said, the Hong Kong-based South China Morning Post reported quoting official media.

Speaking at a panel discussion on the sidelines of the annual parliamentary session on Monday, Xi said that the external environment for the country's development had changed rapidly, and there was a significant rise in uncertainty and unpredictable factors.

"In the face of profound and complex changes in the international and domestic environment, we must remain calm, maintain concentration, strive for progress while maintaining stability, take action, be united and dare to struggle," Xi said.

Meanwhile, Chinese Foreign Minister Qin Gang also warned on Tuesday that Beijing and Washington are headed for "conflict and confrontation" if the US doesn't change course, striking a combative tone at a moment when relations between the rivals are at a historic low.

Qin's harsh language appeared to defy predictions that China might abandon its aggressive "wolf warrior" diplomacy in favor of more moderate rhetoric as the two countries face off over trade and technology, Taiwan, human rights and Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

"If the US does not hit the brake, but continues to speed down the wrong path, no amount of guardrails can prevent derailing and there surely will be conflict and confrontation," said Qin. "Such competition is a reckless gamble, with the stakes being the fundamental interests of the two peoples and even future of humanity."

Asked about Qin's and Xi's comments, White House National Security Council spokesman John Kirby said that the US policy on China has remained consistent.

"There is no change to the United States' posture when it comes to this bilateral relationship," Kirby said. "The president believes those tensions obviously have to be recognised, but can be worked through. We again seek competition not conflict." Agencies

Massive blast in Bangladesh kills at least 17, locals blame it on chemical stockpile

DHAKA

AT least 17 people, including two women, were killed and over 100 others injured on Tuesday in a powerful "earthquake-like" explosion at a seven-storey building in Bangladesh's capital city, police said.

Eleven firefighting units, comprising 200 firemen, were mobilised at the spot after the blast, which occurred around 4.50 pm (local time) at Old Dhaka's crowded Gulistan area, the fire service control room said.

"Sixteen bodies have been found (so far), but the toll could rise as the rescue operation is underway," a fire service official said. One person succumbed to his injuries at the hospital, raising the toll to 17.

"Most of the deaths were caused by brain hemorrhage," Health Minister Zahid Maleque said.

The cause of the explosion is not known, but local residents suspected chemicals illegally stored inside the building, mostly used as an office and business complex, might have sparked the blast.

"At first, I thought it was an earthquake. The entire Siddik Bazar area was shaken by the blast," eyewitness Safayet Hossain, a local shopkeeper, told The Daily Star newspaper.

The Rapid Action Battalion's bomb disposal unit was rushed to the spot to inspect the buildings.

Dozens of injured were taken to Dhaka Medical College Hospital, said DMCH police outpost inspector Bacchu Miah. He added that all of them were receiving treatment at the hospital's emergency unit.

In a message, Bangladesh President Mohammad Abdul Hamid prayed for the salvation of the departed souls and conveyed his deepest sympathies to the bereaved families, the Dhaka Tribune newspaper reported.

Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina, who is currently in Doha for the United Nations Conference on the Least Developed Countries, prayed for the peace of the departed and urged authorities to take prompt action to ensure better treatment of the injured, the report said, quoting Prime Minister's Press Wing sources. PTI

China agrees to restructure loans, says Sri Lankan prez

COLOMBO

CHINA has given assurances that it will support Sri Lanka's debt restructuring, clearing the biggest hurdle for the debt-ridden country to secure a much-needed $2.9-billion bailout package from the IMF, President Ranil Wickremesinghe said on Tuesday.

In January, India strongly backed the island nation's efforts to secure a loan from the global lender to recover from its worst-ever economic crisis.

"Last night, we received a new letter from the EXIM Bank of China. I and the governor of the Central Bank signed our letter of intent and sent it to the International Monetary Fund (IMF) last night itself," Wickremesinghe told the Parliament.

Wickremesinghe said, "Our part of obligations are now complete and we hope the IMF will do their duty by the third or fourth week of this month. This will enable us to receive funding from the world bank and the ADB."

China's agreement to restructure its loans to Sri Lanka paves the way for International Monetary Fund financing to the bankrupt island nation, the IMF said on Tuesday, adding this would also speed up funding from others.

"Sri Lanka has now received financing assurances from all major bilateral creditors," said Krishna Srinivasan, director of IMF's Asia and Pacific Department. Agencies

Sri Lanka to hold local election on April 25

Sri Lanka's election commission on Tuesday announced April 25 as the new date for the local poll. The order came as a result of the chief opposition Samagi Jana Balawegaya party filing a fundamental rights petition in the apex court, calling for a writ against officials denying funds necessary to conduct elections.

Rescue team inspecting damages and searching for victims following landslides in Natuna islands, Indonesia on Tuesday | AFP

Indonesia landslide: Many trapped, rescue on

JAKARTA

MORE rescuers and heavy machinery will be sent to Indonesia's disaster-hit Serasan Island to search for dozens still missing after a deadly landslide, a disaster official said on Tuesday. The landslide struck Monday in the remote Natuna region between Borneo and peninsular Malaysia.

Poor weather and downed communication lines have complicated rescue efforts on the island, which is home to about 8,000 people. Pictures provided by Natuna's communication and information agency showed houses reduced to rubble, with fallen trees and torn roofs.

Body bags were lined up on top of a blue tarpaulin as officials gathered to pray for the victims. Rescuers have managed to find 11 bodies so far, but villagers put the toll at 15, as per Abdul Muhari, spokesperson for the national disaster mitigation agency (BNPB).

Another 47 people are still missing, while at least 1,200 people have had to seek shelter because of the disaster, Muhari further added.

"There are 82 search and rescue personnel on Serasan Island. 15 more officers from Jakarta will join the effort tomorrow," he told AFP on Tuesday evening.

Heavy-duty vehicles, along with two helicopters, will also help the search and aid distribution efforts Heavy rain has forced intermittent pauses in the rescue operation.

"The rain intensity is still quite high in Serasan," Muhari said, adding that the downpours have been lashing the island since the end of the last month.

"The team's safety is of utmost importance amid the high-intensity rain," he said. "We keep observing the weather, so as (it) improves, we will continue the search."

Rescuers were focusing their efforts along a stretch of road near a cliff where around 30 houses were reportedly buried by the landslide.

Muhari had earlier said that the agency was sending food and tents, as well as satellite communication equipment and two helicopters in a bid to establish communication lines and speed up aid. AFP

IN COLD BLOOD

2 boys guilty of Afghan Sikh teen's murder in Britain

LONDON

TWO teenagers have been found guilty of murdering an innocent 16-year-old Afghan Sikh refugee in London who they mistakenly thought belonged to a rival gang, according to Scotland Yard.

Vanushan Balakrishnan and Ilyas Suleiman, both 18, were convicted for the murder of Rishmeet Singh 'in cold blood' on Monday following a trial at the Old Bailey court in London. The duo will be sentenced at the same court next month.

"Rishmeet was an innocent, young 16-year-old who had his whole life ahead of him. He had just spent an enjoyable evening with his friends and was making the short walk home when he was callously chased down and knifed to death by Balakrishnan and Suleiman," said Detective Inspector Laura Semple, from the Metropolitan Police's Specialist Crime Command.

The police said that between them, the two teens stabbed Singh 15 times while he was 'defenceless on the floor.'

"There is never an excuse to murder someone in cold blood, but this case is made even more tragic by the fact that Rishmeet was wrongly targeted by his attackers..." said Semple.

During the trial, it emerged that Rishmeet Singh came to the UK in October 2019 with his mother and grandmother to seek asylum from Jalalabad in Afghanistan.

The court heard that in November 2021, Rishmeet had just left his friends and was walking home when he saw two unknown males running towards him. Rishmeet immediately ran back towards his friends and shouted 'run, run,' before he tripped and fell. One of his pursuers then stabbed him at least five times in the back. Seconds later, the second male also began to stab Rishmeet, at least 10 times. His attackers then fled, leaving his bloodied and injured body on ground. PTI

NCLT nod for Suraksha Group's Jaypee bid

Tribunal dismisses objections raised by Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority and ICICI Bank

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a relief for over 20,000 homebuyers who have been waiting for possession of their homes spread across Noida and Greater Noida for over a decade, the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) on Tuesday approved Mumbai-based Suraksha Group's bid to buy Jaypee Infratech (JIL), nearly six years after the firm entered the insolvency process.

The NCLT dismissed the objections raised by Yamuna Expressway Industrial Development Authority and ICICI Bank and reserved its order on Suraksha's bid to acquire JIL in November 2022. The fresh ruling comes nearly two years after the Committee of Creditors (CoC), which includes banks and homebuyers, gave its nod to Suraksha Group's offer over state-owned NBCC.

A two-member Principal bench of NCLT headed by President Ramalingam Sudhkar approved the resolution plan and said a monitoring panel will be set up by the applicant Interim Resolution Professional (IRP) in seven days that would take all necessary steps for expeditious implementation of the resolution plan.

The successful resolution applicant should deliver the units for possession by the homebuyers as per the time frame promised in the resolution plan, the bench said. JIL homebuyers described NCLT's order as a "real Holi gift" and hoped Suraksha will deliver the flats as per the proposed timeline.

JIL was among the first list of 12 firms against whom the RBI had directed the banks to approach NCLT for initiation of insolvency proceedings. While the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC) mandates a Corporate Insolvency Resolution Process (CIRP) to be completed within a limited time frame, JIL was an exceptional case that faced several rounds of litigations. Suraksha had offered to bankers over 2,500 acres of land and nearly ₹1,300 crore by way of issuing non-convertible debentures. It has proposed to complete pending flats over next four years.

On NCLT order, it said, "The SRA (successful resolution applicant) shall deliver/provide possession of the units to the homebuyers/allottees as per the time frame promised in the resolution plan and approved by this Authority. The Monitoring Committee will supervise and monitor the progress of construction of units and related infrastructure developments on a day-to-day basis and file the progress report before this Adjudicating Authority on monthly basis.

The order noted the Interim Resolution Professional, Anuj Jain, shall stand discharged from his duties immediately after constituting the Monitoring Committee(s) as provided in the Resolution Plan.

CHINA'S TRADE FALLS AS DEMAND FROM WESTERN WEAKENS

As the US and European demand weakened in the face of interest rate hikes, China's trade fell in January and February. The fall is adding to pressure on China's efforts to revive economic growth following the end of anti-virus controls. As per customs data, China's exports fell 6.8% from a year earlier to $506.3 billion, an improvement over December's 10.1% fall. Imports declined 10.2% to $389.4 billion, deepening December's 7.3% contraction. Its global trade surplus for the two months edged up 0.8% over a year earlier to $116.9 billion. Forecasters expected trade to weaken as the likelihood of a recession in Western economies rose following rate hikes by the US Fed and European Central Bank to cool down inflation. Beijing on Sunday set this year's growth target at 'around 5%' while the ruling Communist Party tries to encourage consumer demand to cut reliance on exports and investment.

Telecom PLI scheme attracts ₹1.2K cr investment

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE production linked incentive (PLI) scheme for telecom equipment manufacturers got an overwhelming response as the companies such as Samsung, Nokia and Jabil invested ₹1,181.25 crore in the country.

Government data suggests these investments generated products with sales value of ₹13,541 crore till January 31, 2023. The scheme, which was notified in 2021, also gave employment to 11,000 people in the telecom sector.

According to the figures released by the Department of Telecommunication (DoT) on Tuesday, till January 30, 2023, equipment worth ₹5,746 crore as well as products worth ₹7,794 crore were utilised in the country. "With the launch of 5G in India in October 2022 by the Prime Minister (Narendra Modi), the telecom sector is witnessing a capital expenditure cycle with investment of more than ₹1.5 lakh crore expected in 2023. Therefore, the actual result or success of the scheme will be shown this year," said an official from DoT.

Commerce ministry data suggests the country exported telecom instruments worth ₹80,490 crore from April 2022 to January 2023. It is up 90% yearly. However, the country imported electronic instruments worth ₹109,007 crore for the same period. The official also added that among the companies, Swedish equipment manufacturer Nokia exported the highest amount of equipment to Europe.

The government, to promote domestic manufacturing of telecom and networking products in India, launched the scheme in 2021. The scheme was amended in April 2022 to facilitate design-led manufacturing with an additional incentive of 1% over the existing incentive rates. So far, the government has granted approval to 42 companies, including 28 MSMEs, under the scheme for telecom and networking products. Out of this, 17 companies have applied for additional incentive of 1% under design-led-manufacturing criteria. These 42 firms have committed investment of ₹4,115 crore, which will generate additional sales of ₹2.45 lakh crore and create additional employment of more than 44,000 over the scheme period. Recently, the GX Group became the first shortlisted entity under the scheme to have received the incentive. The other selected companies are Samsung, Nokia, Jabil, Rising Star (Foxconn) and Flextronics as well as local players like HFCL, ITI, VVDN and Tejas Networks.

Nokia exports highest amount of equipment

Adani prepays ₹7,374 cr share-backed loans 2 years ahead of maturity date

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

Embattled Adani Group on Tuesday said it has prepaid ₹7,374 crore ($902 million) share-backed financing made by various international and domestic financial institutions, about two years ahead of its latest maturity date.

"In continuation of promoters' commitment to reduce the overall promoter leverage backed by Adani Listed Company shares, we would like to inform that we have prepaid share backed financing of ₹7,374 crore ($902 million) ahead of its latest maturity in April 2025," said Adani Group in a statement.

The conglomerate has pledged to prepay all share-backed remaining loans by the end of March 2023. "Along with the repayments done earlier in February, Adani has prepaid $2,016 million of share-backed financing, which is consistent with promoters' commitment to prepay all share-backed financing before March 31, 2023," noted the statement.

This is the third time in quick succession the Group has restored to prepay its loan to generate confidence among investors and lenders about its ability to meet debt obligations.

The billionaire Gautam Adani promoted group, whose net debt stood at ₹1.96 lakh crore as of December 2022, is easing concerns related to its credit profile after CreditSight had called it 'overleveraged' and US-based short seller Hindenburg Research alleged stock price manipulation by the promoters via offshore tax havens.

With the repayment of ₹7,374 crore to financial institutions, the following Adani listed company shares will be released – Adani Ports & Special Economic Zone Ltd: 155 million shares, representing 11.8% of the promoters' holding. Adani Enterprises: 31 million shares, representing 4.0% of promoters' holding. Adani Transmission: 36 million shares, representing 4.5% of promoters' holding. Adani Green Energy: 11 million shares, representing 1.2% of promoters' holding.

The Group's fresh repayment comes at a time when the conglomerate is having more roadshows in London, Dubai and several cities in the US to boost investor confidence days after it raised ₹15,446 crore from US-based GQG Partners.

FB parent Meta to go for second round of layoffs

NEW DELHI: As layoffs continue in technology companies, social media giant Facebook parent firm Meta is reportedly planning to sack more employees as early as this week. According to a report, the Mark Zuckerberg-led company could reduce jobs over and above the 13% reduction in total workforce that took place in November last year. The reports suggest Meta has also been working towards flattening its organisation and giving buyout packages to several managers. Meta is also reportedly cutting and slashing whole teams that it deems non-essential as per its assessment. The company has completed a recent performance review of the employees, a signal that more job cuts are on the way.

SBI calls Rajan's recent remark 'ill-conceived, biased'

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

TWO prominent financial institutions on Tuesday dismissed former RBI governor Raghuram Rajan's remark that India is dangerously close to "Hindu rate of growth".

Without naming Rajan, State Bank of India (SBI), in a report, called his argument 'ill-conceived', 'biased' and 'pre-mature' at its best when weighing the recent GDP numbers against the available data on savings and investments. On the other hand, Moody's Analytics said the country's domestic economy, rather than trade, is its primary engine of growth and the slowdown in economic activity late last year will only be temporary. As per the government data, India's GDP growth slowed to 4.4% in October-December, 2022, from 6.3% recorded in the previous quarter on account of low private consumption expenditure and contraction in the manufacturing sector due to decline in manufacturing and low private consumption expenditure.

"Apart from the fact that quarterly growth numbers are noisy and should be best avoided for any serious interpretation ...We find such argument ill-conceived, biased and premature at its best when weighing the recent GDP numbers against the available data on savings and investments," said SBI in its research report.

According to SBI, gross capital formation (GCF) by the government touched a high of 11.8% in financial year 2021-22 (FY22), up from 10.7% in FY21. This also had a domino effect on private sector investment that jumped from 10% to 10.8% over the same period. At the aggregate level, gross capital formation is supposed to have crossed 32% in FY23, the highest level since FY19.

In addition, the report said in FY22 gross savings rose to 30% from 29% in FY21. "The ratio is supposed to have crossed 31% in FY23, the highest since FY19. "Prima facie, a careful analysis shows that incremental capital output ratio (ICOR), which measures additional units of capital (investment) needed to produce additional units of output, has been improving. ICOR, which was 7.5 in FY12 is now only 3.5 in FY22. Clearly, only half of capital is now needed for the next unit of output," the report added. "Our take is that the slowdown late last year will be temporary and even salutary, helping to wring some of the demand-side pressures out of the economy without stopping it wholesale. On the external front, better growth in the US and Europe's incipient recovery will propel India at the mid-year mark," Moody's Analytics said.

"While high interest rates have slowed the domestic economy and curbed imports, external imbalances have widened, putting pressure on the rupee and adding to inflation," Moody's Analytics added.

CM releases vision docu to make K'taka $1 tn economy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Tuesday released a vision document to make Karnataka a $1 trillion economy.

He said that in the pursuit of building "Nava Karnataka for Nava Bharat", a committee was constituted by the government. It recommended increasing the growth rate of the agriculture sector from 13.3% to 16.3%, industry from 8.8% to 16.8% and service sector from 14.7% to 16.9% for the overall growth rate at 16.8% by 2032.

A large number of recommendations of the committees has already been announced during this year's budget, the CM said.

"We propose to make the district a fulcrum of growth and development by strengthening capacity building, infrastructure support and delegation of powers to field level functionaries," the CM stated.

The report recommends liberalising the conversion of land for agro-processing industries to ease capital availability via bank loans, accelerated roll-out of the agri startup policy to foster industry partnerships, provide early-stage funding, develop incubation infrastructure and provide state support like incentives and concessions, promote growing of sandalwood as intercrop with horticulture crops and develop and rollout inland fisheries policy.

The report stated that per capita income has the potential to go up from Rs 3.05 lakh to Rs 12.96 lakh in 2032.

RBI eyes half million users in digital currency pilot project by July

SACHIN KUMAR @ Mumbai

THE Reserve Bank of India (RBI) is aiming to increase the number of customers in the pilot project for retail Central Bank Digital Currency (CBDC) to half a million by July this year from 90,000 customers currently.

RBI executive director Ajay Kumar Choudhary said on Tuesday the central bank is not in a hurry to launch the digital currency at national level and wants the process to happen gradually. "In the close user group, at this point of time, there are nearly 90,000 customers and nearly 9,000 merchants and we are targeting to scale up to half a million by June-July of this year," said Choudhary addressing a conference.

"We are going to test multiple tech architecture, multiple design features, multiple use cases, including offline programme, we are not in a hurry to implement it. Once we are comfortable and confident, about all aspects including cyber security and tech architecture then only we are going to roll out at the population level," he said.

The RBI on November 1, and December 1, 2022, launched the CBDC for wholesale and retail respectively. While the use case of the wholesale CBDC is limited to the settlement of secondary market transactions in government securities, the retail e-rupee-is being piloted within a closed user group (CUG) comprising participating customers and merchants.

The central government had announced the launch of the digital rupee from fiscal year 2022-23 onwards in the Union Budget tabled in Parliament on February 1, 2022.

As per the RBI, CBDC is aimed to complement rather than replace current forms of money and is envisaged to provide an additional payment avenue to users, not to replace the existing payment systems.

The RBI executive director said regulating and introducing innovation in fintechs is always a challenge. "Regulators need to keep an watchful eye on the risks by fintechs and big techs. The risk posed by fintech startups and big techs is different," said Choudhary.

Speaking at the same conference, managing director & CEO at National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI), said unified payments interface (UPI) transactions are expected to surge in coming years.

"I don't think UPI has achieved its potential yet. For a country like India, we should do 10x of what we are doing," said Asbe. "Realistically, if all of us continue the same efforts I believe that by two to three years, we will reach 1 billion transactions. By 2025, we should be able to achieve it," added Asbe.

Blue Star sees opportunity for fridge makers

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

THE new quality control order (QCO) issued by the central government to maintain BIS certification will create a non-tariff barrier for import of commercial refrigerators, especially from China, Blue Star Managing Director B Thiagarajan said.

This will give competitive advantage and a level-playing for domestic manufacturing industry, he added. "Fly by operators who ship cheap products from China will be hit and can no longer compete with domestic players. Prior to the pandemic, domestic deep freezers were 30% costlier than that of imported from China." He was speaking at the launch of 15 new deep freezers of Blue Star in the city on Tuesday. The company claim to spend ₹100 to ₹150 crore per year for research and development. It has capacity expansion plans at its facilities in Dadra and Sri City. Thiagarajan said the company is looking at exporting its commercial refrigeration solutions to the Middle East market.

Torrent moves apex court against Reliance Capital's second round of auction

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

TORRENT INVESTMENTS has filed a plea in the Supreme Court challenging the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal's (NCLAT's) order to hold a second round of auction for Reliance Capital (RCap) assets.

The plea comes after the NCLAT last week allowed lenders of Reliance Capital to hold an extended challenge mechanism or second round of auction for the sale of the debt-ridden financial services company.

Encouraged by the decision, the Committee of Creditors (CoC) of RCap decided to hold a second round of auction for sale of company assets on March 20 in which lenders have asked bidders to offer a minimum of ₹8,000 in cash upfront. Torrent filed the plea on Tuesday against Vistra ITCL, debenture trustee acting on behalf of the committee of creditors. In the second round of auction, the lenders kept the minimum threshold or the bid starting value at ₹9,500 crore, with the subsequent round rising to ₹10,000 crore and by ₹250 crore in any round that follows.

In the first round of the challenge mechanism, Torrent had emerged as the highest bidder with a bid amount of ₹8,640 crore, while Hinduja Group firm IndusInd International Holdings Ltd (IIHL) was the second highest with ₹8,110 crore bid. The first round of the auction ran into a legal tangle after the IIHL made an all-cash bid of ₹9,000 crore to the lenders after the completion of the auction process.

Torrent challenged the IIHL bid in the NCLT, though the company itself revised its own bid of ₹ 8,640 crore by offering the entire amount in cash upfront as against ₹3,750 crore offered in the auction.

NEW NORMAL IN 'TESTING' TIMES

Indian think tank has gone away from looking at batters' numbers because of challenging wickets

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Ahmedabad

IN film, there's something called the Bechdel test. Broadly, it is a measure of representation of women. You pass it, then its women have been well represented. In terms of Indian cricket, there ought to be a test on the pitch. You go an entire press conference without mentioning it, you pass it. Perhaps, one can call it the Indore test after what happened in the third game where the hosts were shot out on an undercooked wicket.

There was no danger of the Indore test being passed on Tuesday. A few minutes into coach Rahul Dravid's press conference, he was also expressing his frustration on there being too much talk apropos pitches, echoing captain Rohit Sharma's sentiments from the last match. "It (the strip to be used for the fourth Test) looks okay to me and I think whatever the wicket is, honestly, it doesn't matter. There's just a lot of talk about pitches all the time. It's the same for both teams. It is more challenging for the bowler at times. It is more challenging for batsmen at times. Wickets are like that. Whatever it is, we have to learn to play on them, we have to learn to adjust."

At least some of the frustration from Dravid, Sharma and the rest of the team management is because several of the lead Indian batters are still adjusting and adapting to what has felt like the new normal for the last few years. Ever since the World Test Championship was put in place by the International Cricket Council (ICC), some teams have looked to double down at home. The net effect at least has been challenging pitches, with the dice almost always loaded against the batters. That's the case because you can score all the runs in the world but you can only win a Test by picking up 20 wickets. Dravid alluded to this point.

"Sometimes, obviously with WTC points at stake, you are looking to play on, sometimes, a wicket that produces or gets results," he explained. "It can happen at times and not only in India... even across the world you are seeing that at times it's difficult to get that balance perfectly right for everyone. And that can happen, not only here but it's happened in other places as well." That was perhaps a tacit acknowledgement from the coach that the pitch at Indore went a little too extreme for India's liking.

That's the primary reason behind the team management retaining faith in a top-order that has been prone to the odd collapse now and then, both in India and abroad. Averages of all the lead batters have dipped, the centuries have dried up and 100-run partnerships have become an endangered species. Normally, all of them would be on the chopping block. Not now. Not when Dravid suggested that a score of 70 is equal to somebody scoring a double ton on a normal surface.

"It's really being realistic about what is a good performance on some of the challenging wickets we are playing on, not only here," he said. "If you look at the last three-four years, all over the world I think the wicket has got a lot more challenging."

Keeping that in mind, it's about coming up with new yardsticks to rate the players. "You have to be realistic about what the benchmarks are now, what the standards are? Just understanding that in these kinds of games, just one good performance can change the game." It has also meant the think tank has gone away from the tried and tested method — at least from the outside — of looking at a player's Test career through numbers (average, centuries and so on). "It's being realistic in our assessment of our batters, their averages and numbers and don't really look too much into it. It might not necessarily be about scoring big double hundreds but you know there might be scores 50-70... really, really good scores in some conditions."

Speaking about the conditions, the pitch didn't look as bone dry as it looked in Indore. There was also a sprinkling of grass covering but it could be shaved off on Wednesday. With the harsh sun baking the pitch, expect the ball to turn on any wicket, it's just a question on when it will start turning.

On Wednesday, if Sharma comes for the press conference, he will again be asked for his assessment on the pitch. The cycle will repeat itself again.

Two days out from Test, Stadium gets ready for Modi-Albanese show

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@ Ahmedabad

Giant hoarding of Indian PM Narendra Modi & Australia PM Anthony Albanese

TWO days out from the fourth-and-final Test of the Border-Gavaskar Trophy, it was hard to miss the excitement. Being inside the Narendra Modi Stadium, one of the world's largest sporting stadia, was to be a first-hand witness to feverish action both inside and outside the depths of the complex. Outside, the glue was yet to dry on the posters that were being stuck. Inside the Stadium, a stage was being readied under the south stand directly behind the square. On the stage, a giant hoarding of Indian Prime Minister, Narendra Modi, with his Australian counterpart, Anthony Albanese, went up. As soon as the hoarding went up, it invited a predictable gaggle from the journalists who had turned up to watch the Australian training session on Tuesday morning.

"Would be interesting to watch (Steve) Smith get the umpire to move Albanese a few inches to the right?" was one. "Wonder how Rohit (Sharma) would cope with Modi watching his every move on the field?" another. A few hours after the hoarding was erected, it was quietly down. These posters signalling the camaraderie between the two countries — "75 YEARS of FRIENDSHIP THROUGH CRICKET" — have been plastered all around the stadium. And that really was the overriding theme on Tuesday. It may be getting ready to host a Test with a lot at stake but it's also getting set to welcome the man it's named after and Albanese, who will become the first Australian Prime Minister to travel to India since 2017. If Tuesday's dress rehearsals are anything to go by, there is also set to be a lap of honour of sorts. As the orange seats glistened in the background in the early but still punishing summer heat, two men were driven around the stadium in a golden chariot-like vehicle. On Sunday, the Sydney Morning Herald had reported that both Prime Ministers would take their seats before the national anthem and stay for the first hour's play before leaving the stadium. Albanese will proceed to Mumbai later on Thursday.

The Narendra Modi Stadium is of course no stranger to hosting political events. In 2020, it hosted the 'Namaste Trump' event with US President, Donald Trump. A year later, it was renamed the Narendra Modi Stadium ahead of a day-night Test against England.

So, do the players think about playing in front of Modi and Albanese? Do they think about the outside noise that's bound to be there on Thursday? Coach Rahul Dravid replied in the negative. "I don't think so," he said. "Overall, these guys are professionals, they are used to playing in front of big crowds, they are used to a lot of noise that happens in and around these games. For them to just be able to switch on and play the Test, I don't think it should be particularly difficult. We understand it's a really exciting opportunity for us this week to play some really good cricket."

The cricket will ultimately be played at the Stadium, but only after the two Prime Ministers occupy the centre stage.

EYEING FIRST VICTORY

Both RCB and GG have lost their first two games and are yet to open their account in the tournament. As they meet on Wednesday, a look...

GARTH VS RCB OPENERS

Kim Garth started her WPL campaign with a five-wicket haul despite the result not going her way. And against RCB, she will have a crucial role to play against the top-order, especially someone like Smriti Mandhana. With her ability to move the ball both ways while angling across to the southpaw, she will be threat to the Bangalore captain.

HEMALATHA AT NO 4/5

Twice in two games Dayalan Hemalatha has shown her hitting ability with 50 runs at 138.9 strike rate. While she is yet to be dismissed in this tournament, there is a case to be made that she has come too late to do damage control. Could Gujarat use the all-rounder at No 4/5, giving her a little more time to make an impact on the result of the game?

TIME FOR RCB TO PLAY VAN NIEKERK?

With the overseas stars they have, it was not a surprise to see Dane van Niekerk miss out. That said, after two games, they might want to take a look at that option, bringing in the South African for probably Megan Schutt with a bit of reshuffle to include an Indian pacer. Van Niekerk can bat in the middle-order, adding the necessary experience.

Ashwani's arduous journey to big league

GOMESH S @ Chennai

WHEN Ashwani Kumari came with her dad to meet coach Kajal Das at the Telco Club Ground in Jamshedpur several years ago, the latter was not coaching any girls at his academy. At that point, Das was not sure and sent them back. However, they weren't going to take no for an answer. Despite playing cricket all through her childhood in Govindpur, the 25-year-old had no clue that it was a career option until then. And having watched the 2013 Women's ODI World Cup happen in India, the then teenager realised that she could become a professional.

A few days later, the father and daughter went back to Das again. And this time, after watching her sprint, Das decided to take her under his wings. "I liked what I saw. She was training with the boys and picked up the tricks of the trade quickly. We made a plan for her, and started training her with a goal — to play for India. When the Jharkhand trials were happening, I knew she would get selected, and from thereon her journey began," Das said.

Ashwani Kumari

While Ashwani had all the support from her family to play cricket, the journey was not easy, especially financially. Back then, she did not have a proper kit and used to borrow from the boys she trained with. In fact, it was Das who bought Ashwani her first cricket kit. There were other issues as well. With only one vehicle in the family at that point, she was dependent on someone to drop her and pick her up as her village was far from the city. On occasions, she had to miss practice because of it.

"In Jamshedpur, we play in Keenan Stadium and practice at the Shahid Nirmal Mahato Stadium. Her house, in Govindpur, was at least 15-18kms away. It was not a busy route. If she is going back home in the evening after practice, parents used to worry. She did not have many chances to train near her house. Despite all that she will come in early in the morning, I mean, purely because of her sheer will, she pushed further," said Umesh Sethi, who was her coach in the Jharkhand state team.

HI plans with eye on future

AGENCIES @ New Delhi

HOCKEY India (HI) will start giving specialised training on drag-flicking and goalkeeping to Under-16 boys and girls as part of its new and ambitious grassroots development programme starting later this month.

HI president Dilip Tirkey said that former India drag-flick experts like Rupinder Pal Singh, VR Raghunath and Birendra Lakra could be part of the programme which will kick-start on March 19. "Drag-flick and goalkeeping have become very important areas in world hockey. I don't think enough training is being given to the players (in these two areas) at a young age in the country," Tirkey said.

Athletics tops NADA list of dope offenders

ENS @ Chennai

ATHLETICS has once again topped a list for all the wrong reasons. The National Anti-Doping Agency (NADA) updated its list of athletes who have been banned after Anti-Doping Disciplinary Panel hearing and at least nine athletes from the list have been slapped with four-year suspensions after returning positive for banned substance.

Going by the updated list, 18 athletes, apart from long jumper Aishwarya B, have been found guilty of using World Anti-Doping Agency list of prohibited substance. Even the substance they have tested positive seemed to range from peptide hormones, dEPO to SARM (Selective Androgen Receptor Modulator). This daily had highlighted the rise in use of hormones and SARMs by athletes.

There are two athletes –middle and long-distance runners Pallavi Jagadale and Amandeep — who have been slapped with a four-year ban for use of darbepoetin, while two, including long jumper Aishwarya B, have been banned for use of SARM, a substance that has not been approved for human consumption by most countries. Radha and Reena Sharma tested positive for peptide hormone. Among steroids, mentandienone and stanazolol are still used by the athletes. Interestingly, some of the cases are close to one-year old.

HEAVYWEIGHTS COLLIDE

In what could end up being a cracking contest, Bayern Munich host Paris Saint-Germain in the Champions League second leg of their last-16 tie on Wednesday. Tottenham look to overturn the 0-1 deficit against AC Milan. A look...

BAYERN VS PSG
1ST LEG: BAYERN 1-0 PSG

Bayern return to the Allianz Arena with a 1-0 advantage after former PSG forward Kingsley Coman's second-half goal at the Parc des Princes in the first leg. Summer additions Sadio Mane and Matthijs de Light will be looking to make an impact. PSG, meanwhile, are in high spirits with Kylian Mbappe, who became all-time high-scorer (201 goals) for the French giants in 4-2 win over Nantes on Saturday, looking sharp as ever. Mbappe had made a cameo appearance off the bench in the first leg. Lionel Messi, who has been amongst goals, will also be looking to torment Bayern.

1 Bayern have been knocked out only once before reaching the quarterfinals in the past ten years, a decade in which they have lifted the European Cup twice.

TOTTENHAM VS MILAN
1ST LEG: MILAN 1-0 TOTTENHAM

Antonio Conte is set to return to the touchline for Tottenham's clash against AC Milan following his recovery from gallbladder surgery. During his time away, Tottenham have shown the frustrating inconsistency that has blighted the club since the Italian took the reins in November 2021. They were knocked out of the FA Cup and were condemned to a 0-1 loss by Wolves in the Premier League. Without a major trophy since 2008, Spurs need Conte to lift their spirits ahead of a defining night, which could serve as a springboard for an uplifting end to the season.

UEFA TO REIMBURSE LIVERPOOL FANS

PARIS: UEFA said on Tuesday it will reimburse all Liverpool supporters who attended last year's chaos-hit Champions League final between the English club and Real Madrid at the Stade de France in Paris. Heavily criticised in an independent report published last month for organisational failures which "almost led to disaster", European football's governing body said its refund scheme would cover the entire Liverpool allocation of nearly 20,000, as well as supporters of Real and other spectators affected by the trouble outside the stadium.

HC orders EFI to expand pool of Asiad probables

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

COMING down heavily on the Equestrian Federation of India (EFI), the High Court of Delhi on Tuesday expressed serious concerns over the functioning of the NSF. The court also ordered the federation to expand the pool of probables selected to attend coaching camps and participate in the FEI competitions in their bid to qualify for the upcoming Asian Games scheduled in China.

The order came as a big relief for those wishing to be a part of the camp and qualifying tournaments to acquire minimum eligibility requirement (MER) especially the petitioners — Chirag Khandal, 19 (Eventing), Shashank Singh Kataria, 18 (Eventing) and Yash Nensee, 22 (Show Jumping).

During the hearing, Justice Gaurang Kanth made scathing opinions on the EFI. "After examining the conduct of the EFI throughout the present proceedings, this Court is of the prima facie opinion that EFI succeeded in their vicious approach to eliminate the best candidates by acting in a completely capricious and arbitrary manner while discharging its responsibilities," the court opined.

Upon a conjoint reading of the petitions, the court mainly focussed on three issues before pronouncing the judgement. The three issues were - a) Whether the revised selection criteria introduced were in accordance with the statute of the federation or other relevant regulations, b) Whether the EFI acted fairly and in a transparent manner while carrying out selection process for selecting deserving candidates for the 19th Asian Games, c) Whether the Order dated 12.01.2023 passed by this Honourable Court demands any modification in terms of the recent development, as stated by the EFI.

Notably, the court on 12.01.2023 allowed petitioner Chirag to participate in the trials during the months of March and April 2023. "If he is able to meet the required MER in the trials, then he may be allowed to participate in coaching camps from the month of May onwards," it had said then.

The EFI then filed a petition seeking a review/recall of the order based on certain subsequent events. It said that the coaching camps for the national selections are now to start latest by the second week of March, 2023 and cannot be postponed to May thus ruling out the inclusion of Chirag in the camp. Expressing its views on selection criteria, the court cited the statute of the EFI and the National Sports Development Code of India (NSDCI), 2011. "In view of the aforesaid discussion, this Court is of the opinion that the Impugned Selection Criteria which was introduced without presence of requisite quorum in Selection Committee and observance of the process of law stands void ab initio in the eyes of law," the court observed.

It also questioned the authenticity of trials that were held in absence of a duly appointed national coach. The appointment of a national coach is a mandate under Article 15 of the Federation Statute which pertains to the formation of a Selection Committee. It is also mandatory as per NSDCI, 2011.

Archaeologists in Egypt unearth Sphinx-like Roman-era statue

Archaeologists unearthed a Sphinx-like statue and the remains of a shrine in an ancient temple in southern Egypt, antiquities authorities said on Monday

This undated photo distributed Monday, March 6, 2023, by the Egyptian Ministry of Tourism and Antiquities shows a tablet dating to Ancient Roman times

FOUND IN TEMPLE OF DENDERA

The artefacts were found in the temple of Dendera in Qena Province, 450 kilometres south of the capital of Cairo, the Antiquities Ministry said

CONDUCTING MORE STUDIES ON STONE SLAB

It said archaeologists will conduct more studies on the markings on the stone slab, which could reveal more information to statue's identity and the area

STATUE BELONGS TO ROMAN EMPEROR CLAUDIUS

Archaeologists believe the statue's smiling features may belong to the Roman emperor Claudius, who extended Rome's rule into North Africa between 41 and 54 AD, the ministry said

Hieroglyphic inscriptions

The archaeologists also found a Roman-era stone slab with demotic and hieroglyphic (formal writing system in ancient Egypt) inscriptions

The limestone shrine includes a two-layer platform and a mud-brick basin from the Byzantine era – ministry

SMALL STATUE

The statue is much smaller than the towering, well-known Sphinx in the Pyramids of Giza complex, which is 20 metres high

HOPING TO ATTRACT MORE TOURISTS

Such discoveries are usually touted by the Egyptian government in hopes of attracting more tourists, a significant source of foreign currency for the cash-strapped North African country

What is Sphinx?

The Sphinx is a mythological creature with a lion's body and human head

Sphinx etymology

According to Britannica, the word sphinx was derived by Greek grammarians from the verb sphingein ("to bind" or "to squeeze"), but the etymology is not related to the legend

UN REBUKES CHINA OVER HUMAN RIGHT CONCERNS

RIGHTS

GENEVA: United Nations rights chief Volker Turk on Tuesday demanded action from Beijing to address "grave concerns" over the human rights situation in China's Xinjiang province.

Turk has been under pressure from Western nations and rights organisations to take a firm stand on Xinjiang following a bombshell report by his predecessor which cited possible crimes against humanity in the far-western region.

The UN is concerned about the protection of minorities such as the Uyghurs in Xinjiang and Tibetans, Turk said in his speech to the first UN Human Rights Council session of the year.

"Regarding China, we have opened up channels of communication with a range of actors to follow up on a variety of human rights issues," Turk said.

"In the Xinjiang region, my office has documented grave concerns—notably large-scale arbitrary detentions and ongoing family separations—and has made important recommendations that require concrete follow-up."

He also voiced unease over restrictions of civic discourse in China and the far-reaching national security law in Hong Kong imposed in 2020 to stamp out dissent following the city's huge and often violent pro-democracy demonstrations.

"We also have concerns about the severe restriction of civic space more generally, including the arbitrary detention of human rights defenders and lawyers, and the impact of the National Security Law in Hong Kong." It was Turk's first set-piece speech to the council in Geneva since taking office as the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights in October.

Just minutes before her term ended on August 31, Turk's predecessor Michelle Bachelet published a long-awaited report on Xinjiang.

It detailed a string of rights violations against Uyghurs and other Muslim minorities, highlighting "credible" allegations of widespread torture, arbitrary detention and violations of religious and reproductive rights.

HANDLING HURDLES WITH HUMOUR

In recent times, women-only comedy line-ups have begun to provide performers a safe space to practise their craft, while offering audiences a refreshing perspective

DESE GOWDA

COMEDY has long been a monopoly of engineering graduates who can't get girlfriends," says Amruta Bendre, a city-based comedian, known for her relatable takes on women's perspectives. "I always say that on stage. Because the city's comedy scene is largely dominated by men," she adds. A former teacher in her late 30s, Bendre got into standup comedy only recently after the pandemic when virtual 'zoom mics' threw open the stage to everyone.

Nearly three years on, the virtual mics have helped female performers like Bendre get a foothold in the comedy scene. "Before 2019, there were only a handful of notable women comics in town. People were hesitant to give spots to women performers, because there wasn't enough belief that it would work out. But Zoom mics helped change that perception," explains comedian and producer Bindu Rao. The virtual mics helped many performers do spots from the comfort of their homes, essentially taking away the pressure and levelling the playing field.

But the transition to offline mic throws up several challenges that are often overlooked but might make it harder for a woman performer to continue doing comedy. "Issues like lack of good washrooms, faraway spaces, or even unlit streets are some of the factors. Furthermore, if you're just getting started, it can be intimidating to find yourself in a place where there is nobody like you around. You are the only woman comic," shares comedian and curator Varuni Khare.

To make the scene more accessible and safer, a number of productions in the city have been doing women-only lineups that aim to alleviate such issues. Mahila Mandal, a weekly lineup produced by Khare and held at the Art Gully Studios in Koramangala is one such show. "We were not the first to do it, but we are the only ones who have been doing it consistently every week. We started in early December 2022 and so far, the response has been positive, especially from the audience. Unlike the perception that online audiences have about women comics, which is that they aren't funny, the audiences at our shows come with an open mind without any sort of expectation or bias," Khare shares.

According to producer Bindu Rao, a support system helps people rely on each other. "Having another woman performing with you can be reassuring. Most of the time, it can be difficult to break ice with male performers. You might end up being awkward among them. The good thing about the women-only line-ups is you get to meet each other and listen to each other's material or jokes, and be supportive of each other," she says.

Apart from providing a safe spot to women performers, the show is also encouraging a lot of women to take up comedy. "Quite a few audience members are coming here only because it's a women-only show. And they enjoy it, because they get to hear a different perspective on issues. A few audience members have shared that they also want to get into it owing to a sense of safety," she concludes.

KNOW YOUR CITY

Arun Prasad, city-based history researcher, unravels interesting facts about Bengaluru in this weekly quiz series. So it's time for you to find out how familiar you are with the city, beyond its heritage buildings, IT parks and the pub culture.

THE QUIZ WILL BE PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY

Send answers to bengalurucityexpress@gmail.com with the subject line 'Know Your City Quiz'

Correct answers and names of first three respondents with right answers will be featured in CE.

1. The British left India in 1947 and the successive governments have been on a name-changing spree since. Though many of the British names for areas in Bengaluru too have been changed officially, people still continue to fondly refer them by their colonial names. Fraser Town named after Stuart Mitford Fraser, the penultimate Resident of Mysore was created in 1906 in the area earlier known as Mootocherry where ragi was widely grown in the fields. This, in an attempt to decongest the growing Civil and Military Station (Bangalore Cantonment). Interestingly, Fraser was also the tutor and guardian of Krishnaraja Wadiyar IV. What is the area officially renamed as?

2. As an extension towards the north of Fraser Town, Richards Town was created and named after EJ Richards, the District Magistrate and Collector of the Civil and Military Station who initiated the planning of the layout in a typical European town-planning style. Richards Park laid out in 1905 at the centre of the extension is one of the oldest in the city which still has a restored colonial bandstand which once hosted the best of regimental bands. Name the railway station located in the area. Bangalore Cantonment or Bangalore East railway station?

3. Cox Town was also created in the early 1900s along with the other suburbs of Cantonment to decongest the city after the dreadful plague of 1898 and named after Alexander Ranken Cox, an ICS officer who served as the last Collector and District Magistrate of the C and M Station. Along with Anglo-Indians, a large number of Tamil population who once served the British army as soldiers and domestic servants live in the area. What is Cox Town officially renamed as. Hoysalanagara or Sarvagnanagara?

In Pursuit of a Legacy While Elevating Lives

What began as a quest to give due recognition to K C Reddy, the first Chief Minister of Karnataka, Assistant Professor Vasantha Kavitha, his granddaughter-in-law has come a long way since 2013. With a strong intent to install a bronze statue of the former Chief Minister, Vasantha Kavitha, after regular interaction with the concerned officials and ministers, finally succeeded in getting the much-delayed and awaited bronze statue in December 2022, which was later unveiled by present Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai.

Vasantha Kavitha, who was working as an Assistant Professor in Bengaluru, left the position in 2014 to enter politics with the intention of elevating rural lives but also revive the legacy of KC Reddy. "When I joined politics, hardly a few members knew about Reddy. Reddy was not only the first CM of the state, ruling from 1947 to 1952 and governor of Madhya Pradesh, but also the founder of the Vidhana Soudha, the state legislative Assembly," she says.

But the statue installation has been one among the many achievements for Vasantha Kavitha, according to whom, ethical works, diligence and constant follow-up has resulted in her successes so far apart the inspirations from Gandhiji and KC Reddy, which she has still nurtured. "From the past 18 years, I have been closely associated with women, youth, students and the general public, throughout the state of Karnataka, travelling to many districts and encouraging the farmers to make sure their girls are educated, while creating awareness about the importance of education, promoting science and technology addressing the issues of general public and their grievances too," she mentions.

Last month, Vasantha Kavitha successfully conducted Science Carnival and Exhibition Melas for rural students in Gowribedanur, Chintamani and Pedduru of Chikballapur district. Her mission has also reached schools in Kolar district, Mulbagal, KGF, Malur, and Srinivaspura. "My main areas of focus are children and women rights, development of science and technological education in rural Karnataka and supporting the Covid-19 survivors and workers," she says.

Vasantha Kavitha has also been politically active, being associated with the Congress party since 2012. "In 2018, I was made incharge of the elections in Devarakadra, Telangana and in 2019, I was Congress Incharge for Kolar. I have also participated in all activities of the Congress party to my maximum extent. Currently, I am Coordinator of KPCC Control room. But having participated with utmost loyalty while adhering to my principles, in many of the state and central protests, I believe that I have not been given my due by the party," she notes.

My main areas of focus are children and women rights, development of science and technological education in rural Karnataka and supporting the Covid-19 survivors and workers.

KONA PURVOTTANASANA

(UPWARD PLANK POSE FOREARMS)

This is an advanced variation of Purvottanasana (Upward Plank Pose) as it requires greater strength in the core, arms, and shoulders and elbows than the base pose to balance the body on forearms and heels. It is a challenging supine variation.

- Close your eyes, stay for a few breaths.
- Inhale, slightly tilt your body back to 40 degrees down and place your elbows down right beneath your shoulders, forearms and palms down with fingertips pointing toward your hips.
- Ensure you are on heels with your legs straight in your knees and big toes turned inward.
- Exhale, press your heels, elbows, and palms down against the floor, and lift your hips until your torso and thighs are approximately parallel to the floor.
- Keep your shoulder blades together, and gadually, drop your head back.
- Squeeze your core and try to pull your belly button back toward your spine. Remain here for about six breaths.
- Without losing balance, slowly lower your hips down to the starting position.

The dichotomy of pani-puris

SOMETHING happened last week that altered the way I see the world. Admittedly, it might not change the fortunes of the world. The Ukraine-Russia war is still raging, and Pakistan's economy is spiralling further into chaos. IT layoffs continue to shake urban India. But what I discovered last week made me question my life, my choices, and the biases I carry. Last week, I changed my choice of pani-puri. It might not be a giant step for mankind, but it was a huge step for me.

There are two varieties of pani-puris generally available. On one hand, you have the pani-puri served with mashed potato as a filling. Mostly run by North Indian immigrants, the tiny stalls can be found by the sides of popular streets. Like a wise guru dispensing wisdom to his followers, you are required to stand in a circle and wait for your turn. The puri is punctured with a satisfying crunch, and filled with alu. They are then dipped in the water and handed out in clockwise order.

HRIDAY RANJAN
Urban Bourbon

(Writer, comedian)

Then there's the other variant. Mostly sold by local vendors, it is sold in push carts that also offer dahi puri, masala chaat, and samosa chaat. You stand around the cart and watch the chickpea curry boiling on a large, circular pan. The puri is punctured without much fanfare, dipped in the hot curry, then in the spicy water and served to you. For the longest time, my loyalties lay with the alu version of pani puri. Since I spent a significant part of my life in the eastern parts of the country, I was indoctrinated to believe that the alu version was the real pani puri. I held on to my purist's approach to pani puri – like Bishen Singh Bedi cribbing about T20 matches in 2008.

But as life caught on with me, I began to notice a few drawbacks in the alu version. The waiting period, while you stand and watch everybody else eat their puris, would get to me. I also realised how much the alu version of pani-puri depended on the alu curry. It required precision, and even a minor miscalculation could ruin the formula. A pinch of extra salt, or a rogue piece of chilly could set your tongue on fire. Tired of waiting in line last week, I walked over to the pani-puri stall. 'How bad can it be?' I reasoned with myself. What I experienced shook my insides!

At my age, very few things shock me. Wars, pandemics and losses in the World Cup finals do not faze me anymore. But I was unprepared for the gastronomical fiesta that began inside me. The flavours were all popping in my mouth, taking turns to shine. If the alu version was an artistic French film, the chana version felt like a Manmohan Desai movie. You could customise any part of the flavour – salt, masala, or crunchy sev. You did not have to wait for the earth to complete another round around the sun before you got the next piece. And here was the true deal-clincher – the onions were unlimited!

I walked back home questioning myself. I like to believe I am a rational person. I have tried not to let my biases colour my opinions. I have believed in finding my truths myself, and placing emphasis on experience, rather than blind beliefs. But here I was, having discovered that I've been having the wrong kind of pani-puri for decades at stretch. It's a thought I'd like to leave you with, dear reader. Life is complex and complicated. But pani-puri is one of life's true great joys. Make sure you're not eating the wrong pani-puri in life!

Book on India's first Chief of Defence Staff releasing soon

On the morning of December 8, 2021, India's Chief of Defence Staff, General Bipin Rawat, his wife, Madhulika and 12 other military personnel were killed in a helicopter crash near Coonoor in Tamil Nadu. A book chronicling the life of General Bipin Rawat, India's first Chief of Defence Staff, will release on his 66th birth anniversary on March 16. The biography is reconstructed from interviews with General Rawat's closest family members and friends. Behind the uniform stood a General Rawat, who was he? How was his early life? The book attempts to answer a number of topics, including what motivated him to rise to the position of being the nation's top military official.

ONCE-A-YEAR WONDER

FLYLEAF
VR FEROSE

(The author is a technologist based in Silicon Valley who is gently mad about books)

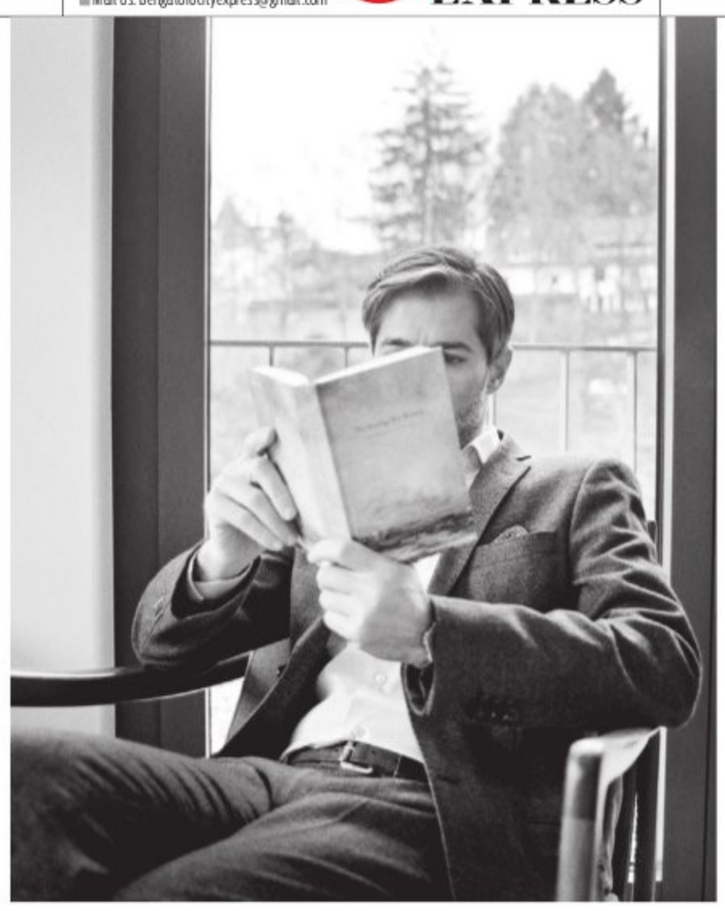
ANALOG Sea is a publisher that releases just one book a year, sells uniquely through independent bookstores, prints only hardback editions, and communicates with its readers through snail-mail. Whether this is a viable business model or not is beside the point: Analog Sea is above all about principles, not profit, and its mission to promote 'the human right to disconnect'.

Based in Freiburg, Germany, and Austin, Texas, Analog Sea sells its literary journal, The Analog Sea Review, through over two hundred and fifty independent bookstores, most in the United States and Europe. Its website has only one simple page displaying a postal address (no phone number, email address, or social media handles) and you cannot buy their books from corporate online retailers. A check sent to the publisher with a request for a copy will be politely returned with an encouragement for the reader to head to their nearest independent bookstore.

In fact, it was in my local bookstore, Kepler's in Menlo Park, California, that I first encountered The Analog Sea Review. I picked up a copy of the third edition, and everything about it felt just right—its beautiful cover art by painter Joseph-Antoine d'Ornano, its pocket-friendly size, its hardcover binding, the quality of its paper, and its smell.

VR Ferose and Jonathan Simons

I later met Jonathan Simons, founding-editor of Analog Sea, in Walldorf, Germany. A dreamer and an idealist to a fault, Jonathan was born in the US but has lived and studied in six countries. He was once an academic of Buddhism and a touring musician, but now he runs an offline publishing house in an increasingly digital age. When I met him, he was also visiting scholar at the Max Planck Institute for Human Development, Center for Humans and Machines, Berlin. Chatting with him over dinner, I felt a meeting of minds in our common vision and desire for a more human-centric world.



We live in a world of digital pervasiveness, always connected, endless entertainment and stimulation only ever a quick tap away. At a time when AI is becoming the new electricity, we need reminding that we were equally in awe of social media during its heyda – until we realised that democracy was at stake. While we should of course celebrate the success and value of shiny new AI tools, we must also look critically at the challenges these present and the harm they can do. Jonathan jokes, half seriously, that future editions of The Analog Sea Review will need to include a note: "ChatGPT was not used in this publication."

When I asked Jonathan what gave him hope, his response was, "If digital takes over every part of our lives, an analog life is what we will yearn for." When there is no room for idleness, where every moment is filled with 'pixelated madness' and we lose our ability to imagine and wonder, he argues, we will crave the physical spaces where 'humans look other humans in the eye, where civil dialogue and undivided attention are privileged, where thoughts and imagination have space to meander and roam'. Hence, we must decide today, for ourselves and for our communities, which parts of our lives and culture to preserve – by keeping them offline. As he mentions in the opening lines of the latest volume of The Analog Sea Review, 'The question is no longer whether our future is digital but to what degree we want it to remain human'.

Every day, Analog Sea receives around twenty letters by post from readers. Not a lot, but not a small number either. It proves that in just five years, Jonathan and his colleagues have moved the needle away from the robots towards the human, even if only by a tad. A desire for a deep connection with the natural and physical world still exists, and organizations like Analog Sea certainly help to nurture it.

Kiran Srinivas

A SAHRADHAA

KIRAN Srinivas, who gained the limelight with Preetham Gubbi's Haage Summane, later juggled a handful of films between Kannada and Hindi. He is a part of couple of web series and got busy as an anchor for a sports channel.

Now, the actor, who has completed a decade in his cinema is back to doing Kannada films, and he has a sci-fi film, Mandala releasing this week. Meanwhile, Krian, who is often seen as a protagonist is all set to make a transition by playing a villain in his next. The Niruttara actor will be seen in a negative role in Radhakrishna's upcoming film, Junior and will face-off with debutant Kireeti Reddy, who is the son of poltician, Janardhan Reddy

The film is currently on floors, and Kiran Srinivas shooting for it. It features Sreeleela as the female lead and has top actors like Ravichandran, and Kushboo along with Genelia Deshmukh playing pivotal roles.

Backed by Sai Korrapati's Vaaraahi Chalana Chitram banner, Junior has noted technicians like Baahubali cinematographer Senthil Kumar, composer Devi Sri Prasad, and stunt choreographer Peter Hein.

EVEN seven months after the release of Vikrant Rona, Kichcha Sudeep hasn't signed his next. The multilingual actor got busy with the reality show, Bigg Boss, and later took time off for Celebrity Cricket League and KCC. On the film front, there has been a lot of speculation around Sudeep's next, and here is a little update for all Kichcha fans. According to a source close to the actor, he is likely to return to working in films in April.

While there has been a buzz about Sudeep collaborating with Kabali producer, Kalaipuli S Thanu, we now hear that the actor has given his go-ahead to debutant director Vijay. The film will be a Kannada-Tamil bilingual, and an official confirmation about the collaboration is set to be out soon.

This apart, Sudeep has also confirmed joining hands with Vikrant Rona director Anup Bhandari for a grand project, which is currently in the pre-production stage, and is likely to go on floors later this year. Meanwhile, Sudeep will be seen in R Chandru's Kabzaa, starring Upendra, which is all set to hit the theatres on March 17

I didn't expect to receive this much of love in the Kannada language: Mansore

CRITICAL acclaim director, Manosre has once again delivered a hit with his latest Kannada film, 19.20.21. The hard-hitting tale on human rights violations released on March 3 has been garnering accolades from all over.

An over-whelmed Mansore says,"I didn't expect that this kind of grounded film to receive this much love in the Kannada language. Our entire team is happy," he says. He further states,"19.20.21 is a realistic take on human values in in Kannada after a while. It's a story of a small community of people whose fight for fundamental rights, and their courage that inspires every citizen of India. It is a content, which has to be watched by the masses who don't know about our constitution and fundamental rights. They almost forgot that they have the right to question the ruling government for their basic needs. Our movie will educate those people about their rights and at the same time it is a thrilling experience."

19.20.21 presented by Aagaaz Entertainment has director Mansore and producer Devaraj R collaborating for the second time and stars Shrunga B V, Balaji Manohar, M D Pallavi, Rajesh Nataranga, Avinash, Mahadev Hadapad and Venkatesh Prasad in key roles.

"The film will make the audience experience something they haven't seen or heard in their life. They will get to know the worth of a common man, the strongest support they have in our constitution and how the constitution can protect a common man," shares Mansore.

Getting sworn at by Venkatesh on screen felt a bit strange: Rana Daggubatti

Suparn Verma

The actor will lock horns with his uncle in Netflix's upcoming crime thriller Rana Naidu

A still from the film

ON a Monday morning, I sit with the team of Netflix's upcoming crime thriller series Rana Naidu. My interviewees: creator and director Karan Anshuman, co-director Suparn Verma and the series' namesake and lead Rana Daggubatti. It might be the skipped breakfast that made me open with a chicken-or-egg question.

"So, what came first? Casting Rana Daggubatti or naming the show Rana Naidu?"

Karan takes one for the team. "We really wanted a powerful name in the title," he says. "You know, something that evokes a sort of image, power, panache…" "Do you want an honest answer?" interrupts Suparn. "It was in his contract. He insisted that we name the character Rana."

"What rubbish," Daggubatti laughs it off. "For a long time, I thought it was going to be a working title. It has happened to me before that my character is named Rana initially and eventually becomes Shiva or something like that but then the name just kind of stuck around."

Shakespeare wrote, "What's in a name? That which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet." Although Rana Naidu is anything but that. In the series, Daggubatti plays a "fixer for the stars." His job profile includes making sure an actor is on the sets after a night of cocaine-laced revelry, rescuing a cricketer from a prostitute situation and spying on a producer's young girlfriend. Things aren't easy back home either. Rana Naidu's relationship with his wife Naina (Surveen Chawla) is strained, his elder brother Tej (Sushant Singh) suffers from Parkinson's and younger Jaffa (Abhishek Banerjee) is recuperating from a sexual assault. On top of that, his father, Naga Naidu (Venkatesh Daggubatti), who Rana hates, has been released from prison earlier than expected and is trying to make amends with the family.

Venkatesh is known for his sweet, chocolate-boy image on screen. His Hindi debut Anari (1993) showed him as this benign simpleton, romancing Karishma Kapoor. Cut to 30 years later, in Rana Naidu he is dancing with prostitutes and shouting expletives at his reel-life son and real-life nephew. The show is adapted from the Live Schreiber starrer American series Ray Donovan.

"When I told my father (producer D Suresh Babu) and Venky uncle that I will be doing Ray Donovan's Indian adaptation, they both sat one evening and started watching the series," says Daggubatti. "Later, dad came up to me and said, 'There are only bad people in this, nobody becomes good.' I was like, 'Yeah..' Then one morning, uncle came for breakfast and asked 'Who is playing your father in the series? I will do it.'

"I guess he was waiting for this role all his life," says Suparn. But it doesn't seem easy to work with a relative, especially when you have to abuse each other on screen. "He (Venkatesh) kept calling me Rana while swearing at me and I was like 'ehhh'. It was hitting some other note in me," says Daggubatti. This reminds Suparn of an anecdote. "It was the first scene between Rana and Venkatesh. He is going to face his uncle for the first time in front of the camera. Rana says 'give me a minute'. He goes to his vanity van and takes a deep breath. Then comes back and stares into his uncle's eyes. The scene begins. Venky takes out a lighted candle, blows it and says 'Take this and shove it up you're a.'"

"At the end of the day, Rana returns home and his father asks 'How was your day?' Good, good.' He answers."

NAMRATA JOSHI

FACING HIS PAST

Film: Mutt

CINEMA WITHOUT BORDERS

In this weekly column, the writer introduces you to powerful cinema from across the world

OF the many life hacks, a common one is about not looking back, living in the moment and moving the only way possible: ahead, forward, and into the future. But even though you might move on, does the past ever let go of you? Can you truly set yourself free of what you once were? Isn't the idea of who you are today and what you could become tomorrow rooted in your yesterday? Vuk Lungulov-Klotz's debut feature, Mutt, grapples with these questions in a compassionate, affecting and relatable way while underscoring life as a constant negotiation, an ongoing journey back and forth in time.

Set in the bustling New York City, it spans the course of 24 hours in the life of Fena (Lio Mehiel) as his forsaken past comes calling. He has altered the course of life entirely, having moved on from being Fernanda to becoming Fena. But three people and relationships that he had almost left behind are thrust back at him, forcing him to manage them, and his own self, anew.

At one level, the film deals with the complexities of transitioning. The finer details and nuances of Fena's everyday life also reflect our broader human struggles for getting accepted for who we are. It's about a common pursuit of bonding with others and having a shared sense of belonging while holding on to who we essentially are. And that is never easy.

The young filmmaker's triumph is in keeping things beautifully regular. There is no heightened drama, sensationalism or sentimentality in the world he creates. The film moves on to normal, lifelike conversations, arguments and fights between people who are reconnecting after a long time. The three meetings also lend a defining structure to the film. A night encounter with the boyfriend is followed by a day-long rendezvous with the sister, leading on to a late evening and wee hours catching up with the father. All fit in Fena's 24-hour routine, all marked with a distinct sense of "weirdness", a simultaneous awkwardness and ease, distance and intimacy. All three people have unresolved grudges against Fena and are nursing old, festering wounds. The sister mistakenly assumes that Fena walked out on her, and left her stranded to be at the receiving end of the whims of a mercurial mother. The boyfriend and father, like most people, don't allow and accept change and hold Fena in a freeze frame. All are ignorant about what Fena really wants, the physical and mental transformation in him.

Right from the very first sequence and the distant shot of Fena's troubled face amid friends, Mehiel internalises his contradictions and carries the weight of his predicaments in his physical presence. It's a remarkably heartfelt and fierce performance that encompasses the pain and scars of making a life-altering decision.

Fena's identity question gets doubly weighty with the added multi-racial dimension, of his roots being in Chile. Incidentally, filmmaker Lungulov-Klotz is himself a trans person of Chilean-Serbian origin who grew up in Chile, Serbia, and New York. Chile, as pointed out in his film, is where the gender roles are clearly segregated—men have responsibilities, women apparently don't—yet the country offers his protagonist a lovely gender-neutral name—Fena—to opt for.

According to Lungulov-Klotz, Mutt is about this 'in-betweenness'. "It's a film about being caught between two worlds, whether that's race, gender, nationality or sexuality," he says.

Mutt did not quite have an auspicious start at the Sundance Film Festival with the jury having to walk out of the world premiere screening because of a malfunction in the open captions. But the "US Dramatic Special Jury Award: Acting", presented to Mehiel, and the Special Mention thereafter in Generation 14Plus category in Berlinale have catapulted it into the best of 2023 list. And the film's journey has only just begun.
